A REWARD OF $5,000

For the Recovery of Diamonds Said to Be Worth $35,000.

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—Thirty-five thousand dollars worth of diamonds, the property of Stern & Co., diamond dealers of New York and Chicago, which were first thought to have disappeared from the person of E. C. Powell in Chicago Tuesday, may have been lost or stolen from him while he was in St. Louis Monday.

Pinkerton detectives have been at work on the case here since Tuesday morning, but no trace of the lost property has been unearthed.

A reward of $5,000 was offered yesterday by Mr. Powell, whose business address is given at No. 10 Broadway,

New York, for the recovery of the stones.

Mr. Powell arrived in St. Louis last Friday morning from Kansas City and registered at the Planters hotel. He remained in St. Louis until 9:10 o'clock p. m. Monday, when he departed for Chicago, arriving there about 10 a. m. Tuesday. He then went to the Columbia building barber shop and thence to his firm's offices, where the diamond wallet was first missed.

THE CROPS' CONDITION

REPORT IS MADE BY THE MISSOURI STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

MUCH OF THE CORN IS DAMAGED

Wheat Somewhat Damaged by Rust—The Oat Crop Stands at 70 Per Cent—Meadows and Pastures Good.

Columbia, Mo., July 4.—The secretary of the state board of agriculture, George B. Ellis, has made the following announcement of crop conditions in this state:

Corn—The unfavorable weather which existed during the month of May continued through the first half of June. There were excessive rains in nearly all parts of the state, and a good portion of the time the temperature was below the normal. The condition of the corn crop at this time is very irregular. On the high and well drained lands some corn is in good condition and promises a good yield, while practically all of the flat lands are in very poor condition, and a considerable percentage of the corn on the flat prairie lands has been so injured that nothing at all can be done with it.

A very large percentage of the corn on all the fine bottom land of the state has been destroyed by overflow. Our correspondents report variously from 5 to 70 per cent of the corn on the bottom lands being entirely destroyed. For the entire state it is estimated that 14 per cent of the total acreage planted has been abandoned. The largest abandoned acreage is in the northeast and northwest sections, where it is estimated at 18 per cent of the entire crop. The south west section shows a loss of 12 per cent and the central and southeast sections show an abandoned area of 11 per cent.

Owing to the lateness of the overflow of the rivers, and the continued wet weather, only a very small portion of the overflowed lands can be replanted. The present average condition of the corn crop for the entire state is 73, which is 4 points below the condition at the same time last year, 11 points below the average condition at the same time in 1906, and 7 points below the ten-year average. The lowest condition is 71 for both northeast and northwest sections. The central section is in the best condition, being 75, while the condition in the southwest is 73 and in the southeast 74. A number of counties in Southeast Missouri are in need of rain. The excessive rains early in the season have put the land in poor condition for a drought and frequent rains will be necessary from now on to maintain the present condition.

Wheat—Rain has interfered seriously with the harvesting of the wheat. Where there has not been too much rain the harvest has been completed, but in much of the central, western and northern portions of the state many fields have not been in condition for the binder, and some of our correspondents report that a great many fields are lost. The same condition exists with wheat along the bottom lands as with corn; that is, a large acreage has been destroyed by overflow. The excessive rain also prevented the normal ripening of the wheat on a great deal of the level prairie land, and the wheat did not fill well. Considerable damage in some neighborhoods is reported from rust. A considerable portion of the crop, however, is of good quality and with fair weather from now on, so that the wheat can be saved, the general quality will be fair.

Threshing has begun in a great many counties of the state where the weather has permitted, but has not progressed enough to give an accurate estimate of the yield for the entire state, which is 13 bushels per acre. This is one bushel below the estimate at the same time last year. The highest average yield is in the northwest section, where it is 16 bushels per acre; the lowest average yield is in the southwest section, 10 bushels per acre. It is estimated that on account of the overflow and other causes, 9 per cent of the entire acreage has been lost. Upon this basis, the estimate for the total product for the state is 23 million bushels.

Oats—Oats were seriously damaged with rust, and it is estimated that 2 per cent of the entire acreage was plowed up and planted to other crops. The condition for the entire state, at the time of making up this report, is 70, which is 6 points below the condition at the same time last year. The lowest condition is in the northwest section, where it is given as 62, while the highest condition is in the northeast section, where it is placed at 77.

Meadows and Pastures—Meadows pastures are in good condition. There is a very large yield of a good quality of timothy. The rain has interfered with the harvesting of clover and alfalfa, and a large part of these crops has been seriously damaged.

Cotton—Cotton, which is grown exclusively in a few southern counties, is in fair condition and is now in bloom. The average condition for all the counties growing cotton is 82.

PETTIS IS FOR COWHERD

STAFF CORRESPONDENT KANSAS CITY POST SIZES UP THE SITUATION.

SPENT LAST THURSDAY IN SEDALIA

Predicts That Mr. Cowherd Will Poll Two-Thirds of Entire Democratic Strength in Primary.

A staff correspondent of the Kansas City Post attended the Cowherd meeting here Thursday night and in Friday's issue of that paper had the following:

"The entire republican press of Missouri is opposing the nomination of William S. Cowherd on the Democratic ticket for governor, and that is one of the best reasons why I think the Democrats should nominate him," said ex-Congressman John T. Heard, in presenting the distinguished Kansas Cityan to an audience of 1,000 Pettis county citizens here last night. The political gathering was held in the beautiful new Sedalia opera house, which was crowded to the doors.

Several hundred stood while Mr. Cowherd spoke.

"Do you think, my friends," continued Congressman Heard, "that the republicans are trying to assist us in nominating the strongest candidate in the race to compete with Herbert S. Hadley for gubernatorial honors?"

"Certainly I do not think so. While the republican press is urging now the nomination of Dave Ball, as soon as he is nominated, if such a thing were possible, the republican guns would be leveled upon him. I think there is no doubt of Mr. Cowherd's receiving the nomination, but I want to remind the democrats of this county that the opposing political party is fighting him because they realize he is the strongest candidate, and so let us not be deceived. With Cowherd at the head of the state ticket we will win a victory this fall that has not been equalled in many years."

Pettis county is, so far as the gubernatorial race is concerned, more nearly like Dekalb county than any in which Mr. Cowherd has campaigned within the last few weeks. In Dekalb his managers said it was really difficult to find a voter that had not decided to cast his ballot for Cowherd. His managers here say that it is just the situation in Pettis county. The Kansas City candidate's supporters today were unwilling to concede that all the other gubernatorial aspirants together would get more than a third of the Pettis county vote. They say that is putting the situation here at a very conservative estimate.

Prominent men who have for many years differed widely in other political

A "STORY" OF THE WRECK

A PRIEST AND A TRAMP DID HEROIC WORK RESCUING PASSENGERS.

THE COLLISION OF LAST THURSDAY

This Tale Was Told a Kansas City Post Reporter by a Traveling Man Who Failed to Make Public His Identity.

Here is a story of the Knott's wreck that the Democrat-Sentinel clipped from the Kansas City Post. It is reproduced without being vouched for, especially that portion that refers to the tramp having been concealed in a tool chest.

A traveling man, who refrained from making known his identity, told the following story of the wreck at the Coates house this morning:

"The length of time it took to get help from any side was appalling—none was near. The leaders in the rescue work were a Catholic priest, a University of Michigan man and a tramp."

"The priest was on the west-bound train, but when the shock came he was the first out of the last coach on the train. He immediately entered the coach where the men were dying. There were dead men on the floor and only a few of us on the car, trying to rescue our friends. The priest took an axe and smashed the windows, put his head out and shouted to the gaping crowd. There were two soldiers and a Salvation Army man whom he addressed especially. They rushed into the car, followed by others. A slight lad of 25 years said, 'Father, what do you want us to do?' The priest answered, 'Get to the tool chest and bring a crowbar.' The young man was a tramp who had been hiding in the chest. He came and was by all odds the best worker at the wreck. He showed skill in improvising jack screws and getting out the moaning men.

"The priest did the directing. He baptized several and heard the confessions of the dying Catholics. When all the living were taken out he went around again. I saw him stay with two until they died. He seemed to know better than the doctors who was and who was not to die.

A lame doctor from Knott's was another man to whom the Missouri Pacific owes much, but it is to the man in the tool chest that the lives of many are due. He and the priest and the conductor of the west-bound train, not the conductor of the eastbound, whose arm was in splints, that the Missouri Pacific owes a debt of gratitude. The priest came on to Kansas City and I had intended to get his name but when we arrived here he stepped out and cut through the baggage room and up the chute and was lost. He carried a suit case marked 'C. A. S., St. L. U., Mo.' The Catholics who died in the wreck and others who asked him to baptize them had a consoler. It will, I am sure, be of interest to the friends of those who are gone to know that they were helped to be brave in death by this silent, cool-headed priest."

The Merry Widow

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY HENRY W. SAVAGE

CHAPTER I.

The Girl With the Millions.

"THE widow just now is the queen of our diplomatic chess-board," sighed the Marsovian ambassador's pretty wife. "She will be here tonight. My husband is hanging over the banisters watching for her."

"But what reason?"
"Oh, he has exactly twenty million reasons for."

"I don't understand," murmured M. de Jolidon.
"No? Then you are probably the only bachelor in Paris who doesn't. She was the daughter of a poor Marsovian farmer—no dowry but her beauty. An enormously rich old banker named Sadowa, wealthiest man in Marsovia, fell in love with her, married her and did her the exquisitely graceful favor of dying a week later. She inherited his whole fortune—$20,000,000."

"And now I suppose she has come to Paris to spend it?"

"Oh, the money is safe enough for the present, I believe, in the Bank of

"Hush! You mustn't say it. I am a dutiful wife. And—what are you doing?" she queried as he snatched up her fan from the table. With the pencil that dangled from his dancing card De Jolidon scribbled three words on one of the ivory sticks of the fan, then handed it to his hostess.

Natalie, with a little catch in her breath, slowly read the words aloud: "I—love—you!"

"Why did you write this?" she asked.

"Because you forbade me to say it," he retorted.

"Tell his excellency I have come back," broke in a voice at the door.

As a servant hurried off with the message the speaker waddled into the room. He was a stout, ungainly little man, clad in the quaint national costume of Marsovia. Bald of head, popping of eye and with abnormally long red mustache, his was a personality to excite laughter in a mummy.

The newcomer was Nish, messenger and clerk of the embassy. At his approach Natalie and De Jolidon slipped away to the ballroom. A moment later a tall, lean, fussy man with hooked nose and mincing gait trotted down the stairway and into the salon.

"Well, Mr. Nish," he asked peevishly, "did you find Prince Danilo at home?"

"No, your excellency," faltered the little man. "He—"

"Did you go thence, as I told you, to the American bar?"

and I've winked at his loafing and his dissipation, and the very first minute I really need him he refuses to come."

"Oh, no, your excellency," pleaded Nish; "scarcely as bad as all that, if I may say so—not 'refused' exactly. He will come. At least he promised to."

"Ah, that lifts a load from my brain if he promised, he'll come! Diplomatically speaking, Prince Danilo's word is as good as his bond."

"Diplomatically speaking, your excellency," affirmed Nish, "he agrees to be here as soon as he has finished the magnum of champagne that was in the ice pail beside him when I left."

"How much of it was gone?"

"The cork was not yet drawn, but—"

"Be on the lookout for him, Mr. Nish. When he comes put ice on his head if necessary. Sober him at any cost."

"I fancy it will be cheaper than filling him up. I'll do my best, your excellency."

But the ambassador at a whispered word from a servant had already pattered out of the room as fast as his somewhat shaky old legs would carry him, and the voluble Nish ran along in his wake.

A commotion swept through the scattered groups in the foyer—a murmur, a rustle, a whisper that resolved itself at last into the excited phrases:

"The widow has arrived!" "Twenty millions and unincumbered!" "Widow of Sadowa, the animated money bag!"

"A Monte Cristo fortune for some lucky man!" "Her name is Sadowa Sadowa; twenty millions—red hair, too, but a beauty!" "Twenty millions!"

"The Merry Widow!"

Down the stairway from the dressing rooms and into the salon swept a woman—young, beautiful, vivacious. A light of mischief danced in her great dark eyes.

Her masses of auburn hair shone like an aureole above her rather pale, delicate face. About her hovered a half score of gallants, all vying for a word, a look, from the beauty (and fortune) of the Paris season.

Two men—the Marquis of Cascada and the Count de St. Brioché—were lucky enough to claim for a moment or two her attention.

"No, no! Sonia was saying in protest. 'At home, in Marsovia, men don't make such pretty speeches. Courtship there is very primitive and marriage is for life. When a man makes love to another's wife, he is promptly shot. When a wife flirts, her husband beats her black and blue—a good plan. Why not try it in Paris?'"

"Delightful!" exclaimed Cascada. "Do you know, madame, we have been counting the moments until you appeared?"

"I can well believe it," assented Sonia. "It must have been just like counting money."

"Oh, madame!" protested the group, horrified.

"Don't I know?" retorted Sonia, a little bitterly. "It's always like that. People count me like so much money. If it is coarse for me to say so, remember I'm a farmer's daughter and that in my country people call a spade a spade."

Popoff and Natalie came hurriedly in to pay their respects to the guest upon whom Marsovia's hopes so depended. At a sign from the ambassador the others drew back.

"So you were shocking some of our Paris gallants?" beamed the ambassador. "What a child of nature you are!"

"You mean," countered Sonia, "that I am a peasant dressed up. How I wish sometimes that I were a real peasant again!"

"Ah!" chuckled Popoff. "Child of nature, true child of nature, always remembering the dear old days on the farm—the bleating of the pigs, the new laid milk, the tomatoes freshly dug up and all the simple joys of the country! But I want you to meet tonight some of our Marsovian nobility—for instance, Prince Danilo, a charming young fellow. He'll be here presently."

But the mischief had died out of Sonia's eyes. Her face was paler than was its wont, and there was a stern look as of pain about the daintily closed mouth.

"I have already met Prince Danilo," she said curtly.

"Really?" cried Popoff. Then, noting her change of expression, he added with apprehension:

"I hope it was not on one of his wet days—a charming, lovable youngster in spite of his."

"I am not interested in hearing about him," broke in Sonia in a curiously level, emotionless voice. "It was long ago that we met. He will have forgotten me even as I have forgotten him. Let us talk of something else, please."

"I hope it was not on one of his wet days—a charming, lovable youngster in spite of his."

COUNTRY FOR BLACK MEN

LIFE IN FANTASTIC LIBERIA, IN WESTERN PORTION OF AFRICA.

LEAST KNOWN OF ALL REPUBLICS

The Negro State Is More Than 60 Years Old, but for All Practical Purposes It Remains in Its Extreme Infancy.

Liberia, the land of liberty, the country given over to black men in order that they might attempt to found a nation, is the least known of all republics. The negro state is over sixty years old, but for all practical purposes it remains in its infancy. As a republic, the country is in its swaddling, teething stage. The Liberians still play with their liberty as with a new toy. The black republic appears to be an incomprehensible blend of tragic comedy and dramatic excess.

Liberty and equality and justice were, flung to the newly-emancipated American-African, who had starved for them for centuries and he clutched them just as a starving dog snatches at a bone. The freed slaves absorbed liberty until it sweated out of them. They played with their newly found justice until now they are almost the slaves of their own law. Just as a girl fingers and plays with a newly purchased cloak, so the Liberians play with their newly constituted laws. They are never entirely happy unless they are in some way concerned in legal action.

And so it is that Liberian law, as it is administered, is in the nature of a comical caricature of justice. A native will in his anger give a brother a harsh name. Immediately there is an action for libel and some one is fined a few dollars. Another man will put his hand on the shoulder of a citizen—there is a charge of assault and battery, which ends in another fine or imprisonment.

So it is with everything. As soon as a Liberian is appointed to an official position he feels that he has inherited a kingdom. His first thought is uniform, and, seemingly, according to his own peculiar fancy, he adopts a more or less grotesque costume. The more gaudy it is the better it pleases the negro republican.

The Liberian people have been nursed by their mothers and taught by their fathers in accordance with the traditions of western civilization. They lack the stamina, the native strength, and real independence possessed by those African natives whose forefathers were untrammelled and by the influences born of centuries of slavery.

The Liberian is a negro, but, as a rule, he wishes he were not. In everything he believes or thinks, or does he consciously or unconsciously, imitate the white man. He wishes he hadn't been born black. On the other hand, the real African native thanks Providence every day that he is black. The native tribes of the Liberian hinterland are a finer race of men, people of a greater nobility of character, than are the citizens of the towns of the republic.

No one recognizes this fact more than does the few cultivated sons of Liberia, who are now working throughout the world for the regeneration of the African natives, and for the establishment within the borders of the republic of a great negro race.

It is a lamentable fact that almost without exception as soon as a negro comes in contact with a white man he begins to lose all that is best in his nature and finest in his character. For instance, the native woman of the forest lands of the hinterland nurses her babe for two years. The Liberian woman in civilized fashion nurses her babe for a few months only. In consequence, the Liberian infant is a puny weakling, too fragile properly to endure the hardships of African life, or, organically too weak to stand the strain of the burning sun and the evil effects of the fearful climate.

The race of Liberians threatens to die out. Were it not for the constant immigration from America, the West Indies and other parts of the globe, in a generation or so Liberia would for all practical purposes cease to exist.

It is a mistake to imagine that these decadent "civilized" black men control Liberia. With the exception of half a dozen little towns—Monrovia, Grand Bassa, Cape Palmas and one or two others—the territory marked on the map as a republic is a series of native kingdoms.

Practically speaking, the influence of the Liberian government does not extend more than five miles from the coast line.

In spite of an army of great ambition, the government has never conquered or subdued the tribes of the interior. These tribes are entirely antagonistic to their quasi-civilized

FAVORS "JIM CROW" BILL

H. J. Simmons Says He Believes Next Legislature Will Pass It.

Tipton, Mo., July 4.—"The 'Jim Crow' bill will be introduced and passed in the next legislature in my opinion," said H. J. Simmons, a candidate for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Mr. Simmons was a member of the last legislature and said it was thought several times at democratic caucuses during the last session of the legislature that there were enough votes to carry the bill. He said he had seen several of the representatives who opposed such a measure at the last session and that if re-elected they will vote for such a bill.

Mr. Simmons is also a strong advocate of the passage of some sort of law restricting the suffrage of ignorant blacks. He said a bill ought to be introduced at the next session and that he believed it would pass.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIA

Malaria is due to impurities in the blood which destroy the rich, healthful qualities of the circulation, and reduce it to a weak, watery fluid. The body is then deprived of its necessary nourishment and strength, and is unable to resist the countless disorders that assail it, and the general system suffers in consequence. The appetite fails, digestion is weakened, chills and slight fever are frequent, while the sufferer loses energy and ambition. Boils, skin eruptions, and some times sores and ulcers follow when the blood becomes deeply polluted with the malarial germs. Both a tonic and blood purifier are needed to cure Malaria, and S. S. S. is best fitted for this work. It is the most perfect of all blood purifiers and at the same time an invigorating, healthful tonic. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation, and removes every trace of impurity or poison, and gives to the blood the health-sustaining qualities it needs. It cures Malaria thoroughly and permanently because it removes from the blood the germs and poisons which produce the disease, and while doing this tones up and strengthens every part of the system. Book with information about Malaria and any medical advice furnished free to all who write.

"NEW" WOMAN'S CLUB

OLD FASHIONED READING CIRCLES GIVING WAY TO CIVIC CLUBS.

ARE ACHIEVING TANGIBLE RESULTS

Campaigns Have Been Pushed in Seattle, Wash., and Dubuque, Iowa, With Results That Are Very Gratifying.

(Exclusive Service Charities and The Commons Press Bureau.)

New York, July 4.—The old-fashioned "women's reading club" is losing its popularity. At least it is doing more than its name implies, and those former pleasant "evenings with best authors" are nowadays varied with practical plans for civic and social betterment; yes, more than plans, for the women's clubs are accomplishing results, even without the ballot.

The Dubuque, Iowa, Woman's club has taken a big step in making that city better and more beautiful. There is a picturesque, steep bluff on West Eighth street that will forever be preserved unmarred as a result of a campaign that resulted in its purchase.

In the first place, the billboards which made the bluff hideous will be removed. Secondly the purchase extends over the crest of the bluff, which is one of the finest viewpoints in the city, and though the summit is at present inaccessible, it is hoped that a way may be found to make it available as a neighborhood park.

Dubuque has no park commission as yet, and another result of the report is a very earnest agitation for one, which in time must succeed, but it was clear that for the present the people could depend upon no municipal body to purchase this particular site.

That there was danger in delay had been proved by the rapidity with which other good park sites had been secured for residential and institutional purposes. Thus it was necessary for the public spirit of individuals to assert itself. That a division of the Woman's club should have acted in the matter shows how widespread the newly awakened interest is; and is particularly appropriate, as the Woman's club, by obtaining the assistance of the Commercial club and Trades and Labor congress, had been instrumental in securing the report from which the park results.

Finally, the club's activity puts the women in a much better position to make later demands upon officials, since they have themselves done what they could for the public good. It may be added, that while the beauty of such sites as that which the women have purchased has been always sufficiently obvious; and while it has been clear that they were being shamefully neglected, and that the viewpoints were rapidly passing beyond the public's reach, it remained for the report of an outside authority to arouse the public to action.

Perhaps, after all, the main value of the deed as also its pertinence to conditions in other cities, is its suggestion for the future. Dubuque has many of those picturesque rocky cliffs to which the public has heretofore paid no attention. Where they are far enough back from the street, houses are shoved in between and they are relegated to back yards. When they are on the street's edge, as at this point on West Eighth street, they tend to become a conspicuous site for billboards, and their beautiful ferns and creepers are torn away or hidden.

But the women who have bought the strip of bluff which, being unsuitable for buildings, cost very little, propose, before they give it to the public, to remove the billboards, and, as the report suggested, to plant vines that shall grow against the rock, to put ferns again into the crevices, to clean away the underbrush and deadwood where the slope is slightly more gradual, and to make a place beautiful to look upon if not to occupy.

All this, which must surely result in a better appreciation of the city's other bluffs, half promises that the little city may come to have a distinctive beauty of its own. It is clear that the women of Dubuque are of the right stuff.

In Seattle there is a very beautiful private estate, called Ravenna park. Its chief glory is its natural forest beauty, but a good deal of money has been spent in making its beauties ac-

You exercise your best judgment in the selection of a physician, use the same judgment in choosing a druggist. This is your right. cessible, and the owners charge a fee for entrance.

For a long time there has been talk of cutting a street through the property, an act which, owing to various local conditions, will, it seems to be generally admitted, destroy its charm and kill the thousand-year-old trees.

To offset this plan, which is fathered not only by the owners of the property, but by the city council, it was proposed that the city purchase the estate for a public park. But so great is its value that even at a relatively low price the cost would be such that the park commission hesitated and the city council refused.

Discussion, even agitation, of the subject has become very general and pretty warm. Among the letters sent to the council is one voicing the protests of the club women. It is a fine, strong appeal—in some portions a classic of its kind. Having stated the situation, financial and other, the letter says:

"Men of Seattle, you are asking us, clubwomen of your city, to lend our aid toward making this a 'city beautiful' against the coming of the exposition. And we are planning as wisely as we know how toward that end. We may succeed in getting a few thousand trees set out, that by next summer will cast a shadow as big as a man's straw hat.

"We will set out possibly a million rose bushes that next summer will yield a dozen roses each. The ivy and honeysuckle that are set out this spring will, if carefully nourished, grow from one to ten feet in height. * * * But when our visitors ask to be shown Ravenna, * * * we will hang our heads and say, 'That was a private park, which high taxes and other outside pressure forced the owner to cut up into city lots.'"

These are samples of what only two cities are doing, but they indicate the "new view" of women's clubs and they may suggest action in other towns.

WOMEN KISS BOY SLAYER

Flowers and Bible for Youth Held on Murder Charge.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 4.—Roy Ligon, aged 19, who shot and killed Fred Koch as he came from church because Koch taunted him with being converted, was arraigned on the charge of murder yesterday and the court room was crowded with members of the United Brethren church. Women and girls brought flowers and all had contributed to buy him a handsomely printed and bound Bible.

After the hearing he was surrounded by the women, many of whom kissed him. Ligon was almost jubilant in his happiness.

He says he did not shoot until Koch struck at him, but witnesses testified that Koch was moving away and had not struck at him. Ligon says his "only regret is that Koch, not being a Christian, has gone to hell." Ligon was bound over.

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

That of Mr. Philip D. Carman and Miss Edna Lenora Mertz.

At a beautifully arranged luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mertz, Friday afternoon, the engagement of Miss Edna Lenora Mertz, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mertz, to Mr. Philip D. Carman, was announced.

The luncheon was served in four courses, and was given at 1 o'clock. The guests were: Misses Marguerite Sneed, Alice Brown, Helen Norton, Cora and Laura Lamm, Marguerite McDaniel, Kathryn Sneed, of Kansas City, and Mary Thompson, of St. Louis.

The house was beautifully decorated, and when the affair was in progress the news of the engagement of the young couple was announced. Congratulations and best wishes were extended. The wedding will occur in the fall.

Mr. Carman met Miss Mertz while he was connected with the Arts and Science department of Cornell university. He is now connected with the Insular Coal company, with headquarters at Manila, Philippine Islands.

Miss Mertz for five years has been a student at Cornell university at Ithaca, N. Y., and is one of Sedalia's sweetest and loveliest young girls. Socially, she ranks as one of the leaders of the Queen City, while her sweet disposition, refinement of character and high intelligence make her the admiration of every acquaintance.

BAND BOYS' BENEFIT

Former Sedalia Lady Gave Several Delightful Selections.

The following item taken from the McLean, Texas, News of June 18 refers to Mrs. Grace Wood, formerly Miss Grace Baker, of this city, who is now living with her husband at Fort Worth, Texas:

All those who failed to hear the reading given last Thursday night by Mrs. Grace Baker Wood in the interest of the band boys missed a rare treat. She fully satisfied all expectations. The evening's reading as near as we could get it, was as follows:

College "Oil Can," temperance selection; Jane Jones, humorous almost beyond endurance; humorous. His Favorite Flower, Two-Lips; The Darkey Wanted to Travel on the Cars, humorous monologue; How the Minister's Horse Won the Race, descriptive monologue; Darkey Washermen's Love Troubles, splendid negro impersonation; and last and best impersonating Mr. C. "The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

CLARK TO LECTURE A MONTH

Will Let Cowherd and Ball Fight It Out.

Montgomery, Mo., July 4.—Congressman Champ Clark delivered the Fourth of July address at Kearney, Neb., today and now goes to the democratic convention at Denver. Mr. Clark will go to Iowa and Kentucky after the convention to fill lecture dates, which will keep him out of the state nearly the entire month. He has accepted an invitation to speak at the Old Settlers' Reunion in Montgomery county, August 1, which is to be made the closing of the state campaign.

This itinerary of Congressman Clark indicates his willingness to let Mr. Ball and Mr. Cowherd fight it out with the other gubernatorial candidates from this time on. It also indicates no uneasiness regarding his own candidacy against Judge Reuben Roy, his republican opponent in this district.

JUSTICE FULLER MAY RETIRE

Judge J. C. Pritchard May Get One of Four Honored Vacancies.

Asheville, N. C., July 4.—It is learned here from an authoritative source that Judge J. C. Pritchard, of the United States circuit court, is to be made a chief justice of the United States supreme court by President Roosevelt, and that Judge Pritchard's appointment will take place in the fall on the retirement of three present associate justices; also that Chief Justice Fuller will probably retire at this time, and that it is the intention of the president before he leaves office, March 4, to appoint Judge Pritchard to fill one of these vacancies.

In connection with the foregoing report the Asheville Citizen says: "President Roosevelt has a high regard for Judge Pritchard, both personally and as a lawyer and feels that the south should have more recognition, having at present only one representative on the bench, Justice White, of Louisiana."

SAY LYING IS A DISEASE

IT IS LIKE PARALYSIS AND CREATES IRRESPONSIBLE CONDITIONS.

COULD NOT EVEN THINK THE TRUTH

This Was Charge Brought Against a Witness in Divorce Case—Story Told in Pulitzer's New York World.

Recently in Paris the court of cassation declared through the mouth of its presiding judge, in a bourgeois divorce case, that a certain witness was "not only incapable of speaking the truth, but that apparently, he could not even think it." In other words, the said witness was declared to be irresponsibly mendacious, and that he was a congenital or hereditary liar. Naturally enough, the Paris press seized upon the incident and gathered the opinions of medical experts as to the extent to which irresponsible mendacity existed in human nature. The results can hardly be said to be encouraging, and a pathetic enough consideration is the undoubted fact, according to medical testimony, that the habit of lying may, all unconsciously to ourselves, overtake us at any period in life, and follow us down to a dishonest grave, says the New York World.

Dr. Pieron, who is a medical publicist of note in the French capital, says that the brain in the course of its development—that is, up till the 50th year in average men—may at some point or other develop a malformation which will have the effect of destroying the ratiocinative or reasoning faculty. Like paresis, of which mendacity is a kindred disease, it may come upon the most truthful and the least suspecting man without a moment's warning, and just as the result of a sudden "kink" occurring in the cerebral structure.

Lying, says Pieron, is not by any means a monopoly of women and children. The male grown-up, even if he does not naturally evince the tendency to exaggerate or invent—a certain indication of degeneracy—is always liable to become a victim of the lying habit. The natural and spontaneous liar who has reached maturity lies because he is physically or mentally still an infant, and can neither exercise any power of criticism either subjectively or objectively, and is wholly devoid of reasoning as to the effect his lies produce upon his hearers or upon their objects. He will lie maliciously just as recklessly or as easily as he lies spontaneously or simply, the result being incalculable as far as he is concerned. They are, unfortunately, amenable to the influence of stronger wills, and can, under quasi-hypnotic power, be made to assert almost anything, the truth or untruth of their declaration being to them not only an entirely absent consideration, but without the scope of their natural or moral purview.

The so-called harmless liar, says Pieron, differs only in a slight degree from the malicious or brutal liar for motives of revenge, jealousy or cruelty. The physical malformation is almost identical in both cases, the difference being only one of morbidity and a more diseased condition of the nerve cells which produces the state of hysteria, of which lying is perhaps the most pronounced symptom.

The children of drunkards and lunatics, more than any others, evince the disposition to lie and to deceive, and it is an unfortunate fact that considerable ability and even religious and conscientious spirit—as for example in money matters—may exist side by side with the tendency toward mendacity. In women who are the children of lunatics and drunkards the lying spirit often manifests itself, although a keen sense of honor is still preserved in the common dealings of life. The woman remains, however, wholly unconscious of her lapse, say, in cases of infidelity. She is, says Pieron, in the position of a person who has no recollection of having done wrong. Though such a woman were preparing to commit an offense, she would still deny her guilt, even though there had been a thousand witnesses of it.

This is not moral perversion, for the moral sense in woman is rather a reflection of the sense of honor or justice in a man than an active and original quality. It is simply that in such women, even as in men of similar mentality, the ideas cease to coordinate or to become logical at a certain point in the cerebral digestive process.

It is just like this: If a psychopathic liar were to look out of a window and see a camel with one single hump, the sight of the animal would, in the normal way, strike upon the retina and, having ratiocinatively declared itself to be a camel, would figuratively travel down the optic nerve and pass into the brain. At a certain juncture of nerve lines the camel would unconsciously to the psychopathic liar—switch off the original nerve line it was intended that it should follow. Having become derailed, so to speak, the camel would, while generally remaining a camel in the liar's mind, change its proportions relatively to its actual condition. It would, when left to the choice of other rails in the "junction," develop into a two-humped or even a three-humped camel. Its pads would grow ten times their original size; its hide would from light brown become a bright red, its neck would become longer than that of a giraffe. All this because the central idea became derailed in the liar's mind, and the cerebral "stomach" refused, owing to its diseased state, to digest the primary conception.

Lying of this kind is, therefore, a disease, and must be so accounted. Nevertheless, the existence of such things in the world should be noted by the health authorities since they are so easily influenced by unscrupulous persons. Where the disease of such a person can be diagnosed and recorded, the legal testimony is not of more validity than would be that of a graphophone.

THE REPRESENTATIVE RACE

An Open Letter About Vote Records on Important Measures.

To the Democratic Voters of Pettis County:

As I have filed my declaration of candidacy for nomination by the democratic voters for representative of Pettis county in the general assembly in opposition to Hon. E. E. Johnston, to be determined by ballot in the primary August 4, I deem it due the voters to know the positions of the respective democratic candidates on the important subjects of legislation, past and prospective, then they can make their choice with a clear understanding.

Mr. Johnston's record in the forty-fourth general assembly is public property, being published in the House Journal, hence a legitimate subject for review. I will refer briefly to the more important measures considered by said assembly:

House bill No. 1, known as the "anti-lobby bill." Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (See House Journal, page 219.) I would vote "aye" on that bill.

House bill No. 32, prohibiting railroads from issuing free passes, Mr. Johnston is recorded as having voted "no." (Journal, page 415.) I would vote "aye" on that bill, and, as it failed of passage, will very likely be up for action in the next assembly.

House bill No. 36, requiring insurance companies to face suits against them in the courts of this state, Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (Journal, page 180.) I would vote "aye" on that bill.

House bill No. 92 (the "Brasfield bill"), providing a license tax for dogs, Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (Journal, page 413.) This measure will be presented again in the next assembly. I would vote "aye."

House bill No. 320, to apply the provisions of the "fellow servant law" to mine operators, Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (Journal, page 401.) I would vote "aye" on that bill.

House bill No. 817, to establish a binding twine factory in the state penitentiary, Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (Journal, page 956.) As I am the author of the plan for such a factory, having urged it upon the legislature in 1899, while serving as chief clerk of the Missouri state labor bureau (see the 21st annual report of said bureau, pages 117-121), I would vote "aye" on that bill.

Senate bill No. 28, known as the "maximum freight rate bill," Mr. Johnston is recorded as "absent without leave." (Journal, page 978.) I would vote "aye" on that bill.

Senate joint and concurrent resolution No. 4, to increase the salaries of the members of the general assembly to $1,500 per term, Mr. Johnston is recorded as having voted "aye." (Journal, page 828.) The present pay of members (about $360) is too low, but I regard that as "too big a jump" at one time, so would vote "no."

Neither senate bill No. 168 (the Majors "Jim Crow bill" that passed the senate), nor house bill No. 242, of same import, ever reached a record vote in the house, hence Mr. Johnston is not officially on record on that subject. In all probability it will be presented to the next assembly. I would vote "aye."

Should I be nominated and elected, I pledge myself to be present and recorded as voting on all measures considered in the general assembly, or show a justifiable excuse for absence.

Anyone who will call on me at the Ruralist office, Sedalia, can see a copy of the House Journal. Very respectfully—M. V. Carroll.

PROHIBITION IS COSTLY

To the Thousands of Brewery Workers in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—That prohibition has put 600 Milwaukee brewery workers out of work, costing them $450,000 in wages the last year, is the declaration made by the secretary of the union in a letter in which he asks all the unions of this city to participate in the brewery workmen's anti-prohibition campaign and parade July 26, when 3,000 employees of local breweries will parade.

There will be speeches on the suffering due to the Anti-Saloon league agitation also.

NOTES OF THE LIBRARY

Mrs. Wallace Will Preside at "Story Hour Friday."

The story hour will be on Friday morning, July 10th. Mrs. Wallace will tell stories about heroes.

Some interesting books on fishing at the library are:

McCarthy—Familiar Fish. Their Habits and Capture. A practical book on fresh water game fish.

Read—Book of Fish and Fishing. Van Dyke—Fishesman's Luck. Walton—Complete Angler. Holder—Boy Anglers.

Keene—Boy's Own Guide to Fishing.

Usually during the summer months very few books are read, but June was a record breaking month, as 4303 books were circulated, an increase of 1086 over June 1 of last year. Over 1000 of these books were not fiction, which shows an interest even in summer time in the books on timely subjects.

One of our new books, Lessons on the Financial Crisis, of 1907, is a collection of very sane articles by men who know what they are writing about. Hazen's book on clean water and how to get it is a practical book dealing in a common sense way with problems that Sedalia has to consider.

The books at Otis Smith's drug store in East Sedalia have been changed and 100 new books are ready for the patrons there.

Dividend No. 60.

Citizens' National Bank, Sedalia, Mo., June 30, 1908. At a meeting of the directors of this bank held today, a semi-annual dividend of five per cent (5 per cent) was declared out of the net earnings of the past six months, payable to stockholders on demand.—Wm. H. Powell, Cashier.

PRIME DYNAMITED

Porch Torn Away, But No One Injured in Third Attempt.

Scranton, Pa., July 4.—The residence of the Reverend Father Karpiak, of the Polish Lithuanian Catholic church at Archbald, near here, was dynamited yesterday. The porch was torn away and the front part of the house was badly wrecked, but none of the occupants suffered serious injury.

Factional differences have existed in the church for some time, and this dynamite outrage is the third to occur.

WORK OF MISSIONARIES

ROOSEVELT, BRYAN, TAFT AND BRICE GIVE IT UNQUALIFIED SUPPORT.

KING MENLEK ENDORSES BIBLE

One Body of Christians in Korea During the Year Had Nearly 10,000 Accessions—The First Missionary Work.

The ladies of the M. E. church, South, Missionary society of Sedalia, through Mrs. Charles D. Brown, furnish the following items to the Democrat-Sentinel for publication:

It is significant that public men like President Roosevelt, Taft, Bryan and Brice are giving their unqualified support to a cause which a century ago was despised and rejected in public circles, a fanatical plan of religious enthusiasm.—Missionary Review of the World.

As the east awakens, both spiritually and materially, the opportunity for evangelization is more and more apparent and our mission boards are insistently calling for 196 new recruits. Will they come?

King Menlek was shown a Bible and asked to forbid its introduction into hitherto inaccessible Abyssinia. He said: "I have read these books and they are good. Let the people read them, too." He is now opening the way for the mission workers to enter their field.

One body of Christians in Korea during the year had nearly 10,000 accessions; another almost as many.

The favorable attitude of the heathen king of Bamum, in Kamerun, West Africa, toward the work of the missionaries of the Basel Missionary society is becoming still more pronounced as he becomes better acquainted with the Christians. A short time ago it became necessary to open a second preaching station in his capital, Fumban. The king ordered the erection of a suitable building with 200 seats, and no help was expected from the missionaries in the work.

In connection with the question as to when and where Christian women first organized for the promotion of the world's evangelization, it is stated that the honor belongs to one which was formed in 1803 at Southampton, Mass., and tradition has it that one of the charter members gave $12 to foreign missions when she had twelve patches on the gown she wore. From this society members have gone themselves or have given their sons and daughters, as missionaries to Liberia, Asia Minor, Persia, China and the Pacific Islands, as well as to the Indian, the black man and the white of our own land. In recent years, this society in a small country town has numbered about thirty members and contributes annually $60 to $70. Last year when an advance to $75 was asked for there was a temporary hesitation, but the treasurer now reports $89 to their credit.

DIDN'T KNOW IN WAS SUNDAY

So a Centralia Man Who Worked Kept the Sabbath on Monday.

Centralia, Mo., July 4.—William Hawkin, who resides on a farm seven miles west of here, is so far as is known, the only person who ever plowed in a cemetery on Sunday.

The Fairmount church cemetery consists of six acres, two of which are vacant. These two acres Hawkin had rented from the cemetery owners for a garden plot. Last Sunday morning Hawkin harnessed his team at 5 o'clock and started to plow the ground.

He worked until persons on their way to church reproved him for working on the Sabbath. Hawkin, who is a member of the church, says that he was a day behind time and thought it was Saturday. He kept the Sabbath on the following day.

Baker's Dozen.
There used to be in various countries heavy penalties for short weight in bakers' goods, and the bakers, in order to avoid all risk of incurring the fine, used to give a surplus number of loaves, 13 for a dozen.—New York American.

Young men are wanted in the United States navy for all kinds of work on the vessels of the great fleet. Do you want to see more of the world, and at the same time have a steady job, with a chance to save more money than most men save working at home? Life in the navy is full of opportunities. You have an employer who encourages athletic sports and study, who holds out to every man advancement and more pay as an inducement for faithful service. The first year you get the benefit of a training school without extra cost. Your pay begins when you enter the service—board, lodging, medical attendance if sick, and a $60 uniform outfit, all are free. A trade means better pay to begin with and quicker promotion, even if you know your trade only partially. Musicians have the same advantages.

You get a steady job, a chance to become manly and self-controlled. You will be sent to sea, probably on board one of the big new war vessels. Congress has just voted for more men. Application should be made at once. If accepted a position is ready for you. You must be an able-bodied American citizen, over 17 years old.

Tear this want ad out and get some friends to go in with you. Send today for free book, illustrated with pictures in color, which tells all about life in the navy—the useful things you learn, the voyages, drills, sports, number of working hours and regular half-days off—all you want to know about the wages paid, promotions, etc.

Send postal today for it to the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington. Or get all the books about the navy at the Navy Recruiting Station, Postoffice building, Kansas City, Mo.

MANY MEN HAVE FREAK MINDS.

Better Able to Remember Complications Than Plain Facts.

"Have you ever noticed what strange memoranda man's mind makes?" asked the observant inquirer. "You have met people who cannot remember 2424 except as a number which they call 'twice 1212.' That's an ordinary case, but I think I got across a champion freak mind the other day when I was looking up a man who has been dead for some 15 years. I got to his neighborhood and began questioning the old timers. 'Yes, I remember Charley Johnson well enough, sure I do,' said one old fellow. Then I wanted to know what Charley Johnson's trade had been. 'H'm, Charley Johnson's trade?' answered my informant in a perplexed tone; 'Charley Johnson's trade? Well, darn it, what was his trade now? What did Charley do, anyway? Just wait a minute; I know that there is something here in the house that will remind me what his trade was. Just let me look around a minute. Let me see, what was it now? That's right, that's right, there I have it. Charley was a baker. That's right. You see that there picture over there? It has some Dutch writing under it. That reminds me of Dutch cake and makes me think of it that Charley was a baker.' Now what do you think of that? Why couldn't that freak mind just as easily remember that Charley was a baker as remembering the laborious process for refreshing his memory?"

THE LAST SALOON CLOSED

Only Temperance Resorts Now in Pleasant Hill.

The closing of Ned Swarthout's saloon on the night of June 30 marks an epoch in the history of Pleasant Hill, says the Pleasant Hill Times. It marks the first time within the history of the town that it has been without saloons. During the reign of local option twelve years ago, while Harrisonville was reeking with joint and dives, Pleasant Hill was pursuing the even tenor of her way with licensed saloons.

Whether the saloons, in spite of the revenue paid into our city treasury, have been a disadvantage to Pleasant Hill can only be determined by the future.

Those who have been engaged in the business here have signified their willingness to bow to the majesty of the law and declare they are now interested in a full and complete enforcement of the local option and all other laws.

Mr. Swarthout plans to remodel his building and to rest on his oars until such a time as the validity of the recent election can be threshed out in the courts.

Mr. Hopkins also entertains the idea that the higher courts will nullify the election and will hold his lease on his building until it is finally determined. He is also figuring on a place in Kansas City.

The White House saloon has been converted into a pool hall and temperance saloon, serving soft drinks of all kinds, also hot and cold lunches. The place will be managed in a first-class style and the best trade catered to.

NIGHTIE WAS ALL RIGHT

For Stage Costume, but Balked at Adding Bare Feet.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—Helen Ashley, the pretty leading woman of the Pabst Theater Stock company, is leaving the company because of her refusal to appear in bare feet in the "Nightie" scene, in Sudermann's "Tires of St. John."

In the last act of the play Miss Ashley makes violent love to a man whom she is to leave forever that night to marry another for whom she does not care.

She is attired in a clinging nightie. She said she would quit, however, before adding bare feet to the ensemble. She quits.

Blind Girl Strangely Gifted.

Miss Cora Croker, a deaf, dumb and blind girl, has surprised her teachers in the workshops of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, in Cambridge, by the quickness with which she has mastered the intricate machinery of her loom and the beauty and delicacy of her work. She has only just passed her twenty-first birthday, and has been under the care of teachers for a comparatively short time, yet she weaves the most delicate fancy articles, dainty colored designs. She is said to be the only person so afflicted who has ever succeeded in doing such beautiful work. There are several blind women working in the same shop who do good work, but she is the only one who can neither speak nor hear. Her earnings, it is said, of more than $20 a month, are steadily increasing.

NO WEDDING BELLS FOR HER

Judge Forbids Remarriage of Woman Divorced Five Times.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 4.—Because it is to the interest of the public that she should no longer have the right to remarry, Mrs. Hannah Begin, five times married and five times divorced, champion grass widow of Minneapolis, has reached the end of her matrimonial rope.

Judge F. C. Brooks, of the Hennepin county district court, granted Mrs. Begin a divorce from her fifth husband, but the divorce is limited and the right to remarry is denied the woman.

In his findings Judge Brooks holds that a decree of limited divorce will grant Mrs. Begin every right which she would acquire from an absolute separation, "except only the right to marry, the further exercise of which," says Judge Brooks, "would not be likely to prove beneficial either to her or the public."

Mrs. Begin is not an old woman. She is only 42 years old and she didn't begin her matrimonial career until she was 26 years old. In sixteen years she has been led to the altar five times and in fourteen years she has been divorced five times.

WAS GOING TO A FUNERAL

When Injured in Missouri Pacific Collision at Knobnoster.

The Globe-Democrat of Saturday morning had the following in regard to one of the victims of the Missouri Pacific collision at Knobnoster Thursday:

P. H. Roberts, of Taxedo Park, who was seriously injured in the Missouri Pacific wreck Thursday morning, and who it was at first thought would not recover, was en route to Sedalia to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Marshall.

Roberts was taken to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas hospital at Sedalia, and the doctors said that he could not live. Edward F. H. Wencker, of the Blanke-Wencker Candy company, Mr. Roberts' brother-in-law, said yesterday he had received a telegram from Sedalia that Roberts had a chance to recover.

Mr. Wencker said he did not know that his brother-in-law was hurt in the wreck until he learned of it through the Globe-Democrat. "As soon as I learned that Mr. Roberts was injured I telephoned Union station," he said, "and they then read me a telegram which they said they had had all day.

"The telegram was to inform me that Mr. Roberts was injured, but was not delivered. Mr. Roberts' wife and her brother, Harry Schlueter, left at 11 o'clock Thursday night, and Mrs. Roberts was at her husband's bedside all yesterday."

The Cause of This Mighty Slaughter of Modern Merchandise:

The Hub Clothiers, Messrs. Tepper & Bertman, 109 W. Main St., Sedalia, after a backward season, caused by the stringency of the money market, found themselves very heavily overstocked, bills unpaid and the creditors clamoring for their money. In order to save themselves from ruin, their entire $25,000 stock, consisting of Clothing, Hats, Cays, Boots, Shoes and Furnishing Goods for Men, Boys and Children has been placed in the hands of the Chicago Auction and Commission Co., of Chicago, to be sold by the Chicago Auction & Com. Co. in 10 days, beginning Wed., July 8, at 9 a. m. regardless of cost or value. This entire stock is doomed and must and will be sold in 10 days. We must raise this money no matter how great the loss. Everything Must Go, No Limit, Nothing Reserved.

BRYAN ROASTED GUFFEY

GREAT COMMONER DENOUNCED PENNSYLVANIA COMMITTEE MAN IN PUBLIC SPEECH.

WAS DELIVERED AT HIS FARM HOME

Denounced His Enemy as a Political Boss and Said He Was in Favor of Retiring Him From the Party's Councils.

Lincoln, Neb., July 4.—Col. J. M. Guffey, national committeeman of his party and democratic boss of Pennsylvania, was read out of the democratic party in a speech made today by Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan charged that Col. Guffey "deliberately and willfully" conspired to defeat the will of the democrats of Pennsylvania. Continuing, Mr. Bryan said that it would be only over his protest that such a man as Col. Guffey had any part in the party organization.

Mr. Bryan's denunciation of Col. Guffey, which recalls the encounter with Roger C. Sullivan, democratic committeeman of Illinois, is the result of Col. Guffey's efforts to defeat Mr. Bryan for the nomination in Denver. Mr. Bryan asserts that Col. Guffey is not confining his efforts to fair means, one of the Pennsylvania's plans being to enforce the unit rule and force delegates to disobey their instructions.

Mr. Bryan's speech was made from his front steps, and he had for his audience that part of the Pennsylvania delegation which is opposed to Col. Guffey. Major Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and James Kerr, who were present, also made speeches and joined in the condemnation of Guffey.

Mr. Bryan said in part: "It is very appropriate that the Pennsylvania delegation should come here for the Fourth of July, for the Fourth of July was made memorable by the signing of the Declaration of Independence in the Keystone state. It is also appropriate that you should be the first delegation that has come as a delegation on its way to Denver, for in no state in this Union have the democrats who believe in the principles that now dominate the democratic party, in no state have the democrats believing in these principles made a braver fight than they have made in Pennsylvania."

"If I properly understand the signs of the times, the overshadowing issue in this campaign will not be one of the issues that arise from time to time presenting an economic question. The overshadowing issue is one that pervades all these questions. It is simply this: Shall the people run their own government or shall the masses be exploited by those who are raised to power by predatory corporations?"

"Let the people rule," is going to be one of the slogans in this campaign, and it is very appropriate that as this convention is about to assemble, as its platform is about to be written, as its nominees are about to be named, it is appropriate that the Pennsylvania democrats should be the first to stop here and give their pledge that in the convention Pennsylvania's influence will be thrown against the political boss and the corporation in politics.

"You will bear me witness that in the twelve years in which I have been in national politics I have avoided interference with the policies of the various states. Even in my own state I have never taken part in the aspirations or in the controversies for nominations. I have never expressed an opinion as to which democrat should be nominated to an office. Even when delegates are selected and instructed for me I do not take part in the naming of those delegates. I have abstained scrupulously from taking part in these controversies between individuals, and I have done it for a reason. I believe in the right of each community to attend to its own business; I believe that the people of each community know better what they want than any outside person can know."

"And the only reason why I expressed an opinion in your own state (as I have expressed an opinion in that state) in regard to the national committeeman who is to help manage the campaign is this, that Mr. Guffey, your present national committeeman, who aspires to be committeeman again, deliberately and willfully conspired to defeat what he knew to be the expressed will of the democrats of Pennsylvania."

"You have a primary law in your state under which the voters have a right to select the delegates to the national convention. Those who favored my nomination organized for the purpose of presenting that issue to the voters. In every district they put up their candidates and these candidates either openly avowed themselves or it was written upon the ticket that was presented to the voter at the polls, and as a result of that primary a large majority of the voters in the democratic party in the state of Pennsylvania expressed their desire that I should be nominated and recorded themselves in favor of the delegates who promised to go there and favor my nomination.

"It is not for me to say whether those democrats were wise or foolish, but if I understand what democracy means, those men are the ones to

SEDALIA CELEBRATED IN A VERY REASONABLE MANNER.

VERY FEW ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Ball Game at Liberty Park and Setting Off of Fireworks Marked the 132d Anniversary of Nation's Freedom.

Declaration Day in Sedalia was celebrated very quietly and passed into history with few, and these of a minor nature, accidents reported.

Aside from the Redmen baseball game at Liberty park during the afternoon, there were no attractions to draw visitors from nearby towns, and in consequence many Sedalians, including men, women and children, spent the day at Otterville, Green Ridge, Pertle Springs and Lincoln, where old fashioned celebrations were held.

Of those who remained in the city the majority spent the day in exploding firecrackers, etc. The list of injured this year is much smaller than that of last year only five accidents being reported.

Louis Schagene, an M. K. & T. car repairer, was injured on the leg by coming in close contact with an exploding torpedo, while he was preparing to mount a street car. His injury was not serious.

Miss Stella Hurley, Fifth and Grand avenue, had her right hand slightly burned by the premature explosion of a cannon firecracker, and Miss Mildred Barde, 604 West Broadway, sustained an injury to one of her hands in a similar manner. Both wounds are trivial.

Dr. George Majors, 1008 South Missouri avenue, while attempting to light a pinwheel at his home last night, suffered a painful burn on his right hand, necessitating the attention of a physician.

Judge J. B. Rickman, while pedestrating on one of the main thoroughfares last night, was struck on one of his forearms by a giant cannon cracker, thrown by an unknown party, and sustained a slight injury to the member.

Hundreds of men, women and children thronged the streets last night and the continued roars of exploding cannon crackers, torpedoes and other "noise-makers" could be heard until early this morning. The street cars, especially, figured prominently in the celebration by over-running the torpedoes and other explosives placed on the rails.

Contrary to the usual circumstances on July 4, Sedalia did not experience any rain yesterday—for the first time in several years.

WILL HOLD INVESTIGATION

Want Further Facts Regarding Collision at Knobnoster.

An investigation to ascertain additional facts regarding the head-on collision between Missouri Pacific trains Nos. 3 and 12 west of Lamotte Thursday morning will be conducted by Supt. A. J. Alexander at his office at 9 o'clock this morning.

General Superintendent E. A. Gould, in his special car, arrived from Kansas City last night to be present. Engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and every person who was in any way connected with the collision, including Dispatcher Strange and Operator Taylor, will be examined.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

SHE WANTS HER FREEDOM

MARY MANNERING SUES HUSBAND, JAMES K. HACKETT, FOR DIVORCE.

BOTH ARE GREAT STAGE FAVORITES

Papers Were Served on Actor June 1, but the Matter Has Been Kept Secret—More Than One Co-Respondent.

New York, July 4.—Mary Mannering, the actress, who in private life is Mrs. Hackett, is suing her husband, James K. Hackett, the actor, for divorce.

Rumors that such suit was to be instituted have been current among theatrical folk for six months, but until today confirmation was lacking, owing to the extraordinary efforts made by Mr. and Mrs. Hackett and their respective counsel to prevent the matter becoming public.

Miss Mannering engaged counsel about a year ago, but suit was not begun until it was apparent that there was no further hope of a reconciliation or purely personal understanding. Miss Mannering and Hackett have not lived together for a year.

The summons in the divorce suit was served on Hackett June 1, three days before he sailed for Europe. He is not expected to return until the latter part of this month.

At the close of her theatrical season a year ago Miss Mannering took apartments for herself at the Presada. When she went on her tour last autumn she left her child, a girl about 4 years old, in charge of her sister, who came from England expressly to take care of the child.

Mr. Hackett came back to New York last March. The little girl often visited her father at the theater. In spite of this, Miss Mannering charges that Hackett, in violation of the agreement existing between them, took the child to his Ninety-fourth street house and refused to give her up again to her aunt. As that time Miss Mannering was playing on the Pacific coast.

Miss Mannering's season on tour closed somewhat earlier than had been expected and she came immediately to New York. Through her counsel a writ of habeas corpus was obtained and served on Hackett June 1. At the same time he was served with the summons in the divorce suit. Mr. Hackett then surrendered the child. The little girl is now with Miss Mannering.

Though the summons in the divorce suit was served June 1, the complaint has not been filed. It is understood the complaint will name more than one person, including probably a widely known actress, who spent most of last season playing in this city.

Mr. Hackett first met Miss Mannering when he was leading man at Daniel Foyman's Lyceum theater in New York and was appearing as Bruce Leslie in "The Courtship of Leonie." They were married May 2, 1897, but the marriage was kept secret until the following January. For several seasons Mr. Hackett and his wife were joint stars.

HAD SPECIAL FIREWORKS

Residents of West Broadway and Vicinity Celebrated Fourth.

There were many beautiful fireworks displays last night in different parts of the city, among the most extensive being given by the residents of West Broadway and vicinity on the lawn of A. D. Stanley.

There was a very large gathering of spectators, who, together with those providing the pyrotechnics, thoroughly enjoyed the display. There were many beautiful set pieces, as well as innumerable rockets, Roman candles, flower pots, etc., all of which were discharged without a flaw.

After the display, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley served a delightful Dutch lunch to those who participated in the patriotic celebration.

BISHOP POTTER BETTER

Physicians Now Have Hope for Distinguished Divine.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 4.—Bishop Potter passed a fairly comfortable night, although somewhat restless because of the high humidity. His respiration and pulse today were decidedly nearer normal, and his physicians are very hopeful.

Scarcely a firecracker is discharged in town and an air of almost Sunday quiet prevailed throughout the village.

FOUR KILLED; FIFTEEN HURT

The Utica Flyer Collided With Freight Train Saturday.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 4.—The Utica flyer on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railway was wrecked near Boonville this morning. Four persons were killed and fifteen hurt. A passenger train with two engines collided head-on with a freight train. Both passenger engineer and fireman were killed. The injured were taken to a Utica hospital.

Condition of Adam Fischer.

The condition of Adam Fischer remains practically unchanged. This was the report from his bedside Saturday. During the early morning hours he appears slightly better, but as the day advances his mind wanders. He may linger some time, but the family have abandoned hope of his ever being able to resume business.

Have a Ten-Pound Boy.

Mrs. Henry Imhauser gave birth to a ten pound son at her home Saturday, hence the unusual happiness of "Papa" Imhauser.

A WOMAN BLEED TO DEATH

MRS. MARY ROZOM, OF EDWARDSVILLE, ILL., DIES OF A QUEEN'S DISEASE.

IT IS NOT USUAL IN THIS CLIMATE

Blood Left Veins and Capillaries and Collected Under the Skin—it Is Quite Common in the Southern States.

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—Hemorrhagic malaria, an unusual disease in this climate, caused the death of Mrs. Mary Rozom, aged 44, of Edwardsville, Ill., Wednesday. Mrs. Rozom bled to death without an abrasion of the skin, the blood escaping from the vessels in clots under the cuticle. The disease is not unusual in the south, according to Dr. Joseph E. Chambers, but it is seldom found this far north. It is said to be contagious and highly dangerous. Sometimes a pint of blood will escape from the capillaries and form a pocket under the skin.

In some forms the disease is closely akin to spinal meningitis or spotted fever. In Mrs. Rozom's case the blood escaped from the usual channels and formed in big blotches over the body.

The disease is caused by a peculiar form of malaria, which causes a decomposition or rotting of the tissues under the surface of the cuticle. The blood then bursts through the capillaries or veins and collects under the skin, giving the patient a peculiar appearance.

Mrs. Rozom had lived at Edwardsville for twenty-five years. She was a native of Bohemia and the mother of ten children.

The Edwardsville physicians were puzzled over the disease, as they had never found a similar case in their practice in that vicinity.

In cases like this persons actually bleed to death without losing a drop of blood. Dr. Chambers says he cannot understand how the woman contracted hemorrhagic malaria in this climate unless she visited recently in the south. He says the disease from which she died may have been a different form of an illness which is not infrequent in Texas and Louisiana.

APACHE BEAT WICHITA

Brother Red Men Meet on Diamond and Play Great Game.

The baseball team of Apache tribe No. 55, I. O. R. M., defeated the team of Wichita tribe No. 108, I. O. R. M., on the diamond at Liberty park Saturday by a score of 9 to 8. There was a good crowd in attendance and a fair sum was realized.

In the fourth inning Catcher Ayers, of Apache tribe, dislocated a finger and left the game, starting for home. "Doc" Henry Edwards interfered and insisted on the injured man returning to the diamond, which he consented to do and later in the game the game was won by Ayers on fine base running.

Robbed of His Suit Case.

O. L. Williams, a Central Business college student, reported to the police Saturday that he had been robbed of a suit case containing wearing apparel.

A Special Meeting Today.

There will be a special meeting of St. Vincent de Paul's council No. 38, K. F. M., at the hall, Second and Ohio avenue, this afternoon.

NELSON IS CHAMPION

THE NORWEGIAN KNOCKED NEGRO OUT IN THE SEVENTEENTH ROUND.

WAS A THOROUGHLY GAME BATTLE

At First the Colored Boy Had Advantage, but Lost Strength and Was Put Out With Hook From Opponent.

San Francisco, July 4.—Battling Nelson is now the lightweight champion of the world. This afternoon after fighting an uphill battle for more than a dozen rounds, his superior endurance enabled him to turn the tables on Joe Gans, and the latter took the count in the seventeenth round.

Fairly worn out by his own exertions in punching Nelson, Gans weakened round by round, fighting always gamely and desperately as he could, he slowly lost his lead over his opponent, who just as steadily bore in, earning his advantage bit by bit.

The end came after a round of furious mixing, in which the men wrestled desperately, even after the referee had told them to break, and where they rolled heavily on the floor as the result of Nelson tripping on the mat. The shock of the fall seemed to be the last straw for Gans.

When he arose Nelson leaped upon him like a tiger and floored him with a savage punch to the stomach. Gans went down for the count of eight and wearily arose, with shaking knees. Again Nelson beat him down with an upper cut, and as Gans once more staggered to his feet, a hook from the "Battler" sent him down for the last time.

Gans was not unconscious, and he still struggled to rise, but his limbs could not support him, and as Referee Walsh pronounced the fatal ten, the championship passed to the hands of Nelson.

How the Fight Was Won.

San Francisco, Cal., July 4.—Battling Nelson retrieved his Nevada defeat and won the light weight championship of the world by defeating Joe Gans this afternoon. The end came in the seventeenth round on a knockout. Gans had all the best of the fight for the first six rounds, landing almost at will on Nelson. He played with him as with a child, but Nelson was game and bore his punishment well. Gans was on the defensive and apparently saved his strength, letting Nelson make the attacks and meeting them cleverly. Nelson first went to the floor in the third round, while he was fighting in desperation. He went down on a misdirected swing, but was up again in a flash and kept boring in only to be met with a fusillade to the jaw which started the blood. The Dane scarcely landed a blow in the fourth, and Gans smiled as he covered up his opponents fruitless efforts. Nelson, however, surprised the negro towards the last of the round with a hard right to the face.

The first even round was the sixth, when Nelson landed his best blow, a hard swing to the jaw. The next was Nelson's round completely, though he was still on the offensive. The rest of the fight was Nelson's, excepting the eleventh. In the eighth, he forced his opponent to the ropes, and the gong found him pegging away at the negro's face. In the ninth Gans was chased around the ring and the gong found him on the ropes. The tenth found the negro fighting desperately, and in the eleventh he had a slight advantage, but he was beaten to a finish in the seventeenth. The negro grew weaker from the eleventh while Nelson seemed to regain his strength. The end came with a series of vicious body blows, which knocked Gans out. He was floored seven times in the last six rounds.

A SALUTE FOR MR. BRYAN

It Will Be Fired From Washington Monument Grounds.

Oyster Bay, July 4.—President Roosevelt has given permission for a national salute of forty-six guns to be fired from the Washington monument grounds in Washington the evening of the nomination at Denver of the candidate who will lead the democratic party in the coming campaign.

times the cost such matter is carried in European countries, thus robbing the post office department of its most valuable patronage and robbing the people of billions of pennies?

Ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker said there were four reasons why the people of this country could not have a parcels post. These four reasons were the four great express companies of the United States. We have the highest postage rate of any country in the world for special communication, and we can make no use of postal facilities in conveying packages of moderate weight. We can send a package to Australia cheaper than we can send from one state to another in our own country. It is a well known fact that every improvement in facilities among a people increases the general wealth and intelligence, and the converse is also true, that every barrier placed in the way of trade or communication is at the expense of enlightenment and revenue, public and private.

A New York foreign resident shot himself the other day because he had not been able to master the English language after studying it for thirteen years. There are millions of us in this country who have studied it thrice that length of time without mastering it, but we are still contented to live and to make our selves heard, if not understood, in the greatest language, ancient or modern.

Commander Peary is about to set forth again in quest of the north pole and it is alleged that he is as confident as ever that he will reach it. We believe that he is just as sure to reach the pole as Eugene Debs is to be elected president of the United States.

Bill and Jim are the familiar names of the coming republican campaign shouts and songs. However, the democrats have a Bill that has been heard of before and will be heard of after the Denver convention.

There are many people wanting to know what Roosevelt will do at the close of his presidential term. But the larger majority are wondering if there is anything at all he will not do if he happens to think of it.

Captain Hobson's presidential boom for 1912 is not formidable in size as yet, but both the boom and the captain have time and room to grow.

The battle was fought yesterday. List of accidents and deaths will follow tomorrow.

FINAL RESTING PLACE READY.

Phineas G. Wright, Eccentric Bachelor, Now Calmly Waits for End.

Now that he has the whiskers on his monument brushed straight, his tomb well stocked with whisky and cigars and a proper inscription graven on the granite, Phineas Gardner Wright, Putnam's richest and oldest bachelor, says he can contemplate the end with calmness and satisfaction.

Mr. Wright is 79 years old, and worth something over $200,000, according to a Waterbury (Conn.) dispatch. This sum, he says, he has accumulated by strict attention to details, not trying to know too much and consistently suspecting all women. Following out the program which has made him successful, Mr. Wright has superintended the erection of his own monument, and he has inscribed thereon: "Going, but know not where." Under this the more definite information: "Never beat by man, but by woman."

The Wright monument is the show place of the Putnam cemetery. It is a solid granite block bearing on its top a bust of the man who is to lie under it. The bust is a faithful likeness, even to the stone whiskers now trimmed in goatee fashion. The sculptor who did the work was an irresponsible person with effeminate ideas. He parted Mr. Wright's whiskers at the middle in his original work. This made Mr. Wright angry, and he paid another sculptor $600 to brush out the stone whiskers straight. This work brought the total price up to $3,600, but Mr. Wright didn't care.

In the tomb near by Mr. Wright has placed ample supplies of whisky and cigars.

"I don't want the boys who are burying me to feel too badly," he explained. "I want them to have a little something to keep them cheerful. No body can say I'm stingy." He has so engaged the Putnam Silver Cornet band to play at his funeral.

Mr. Wright's "Going, but know not where," has stirred up a lot of trouble, particularly among theologians, some of whom have written him abusive letters. He is still hale and hearty.

A Virtuous Paradox.

"That young doctor is a queer contradiction."

"In what way?"

"He has an exceedingly good temper, and yet he is lacking in patients."

No Golden View.

She (sentimentally)—Will you love me when I'm old?

He (practically)—That is something to decide by gray matter.

"RED" DAVIS GETS FINED

PLAYED BALL IN SEDALIA FEW YEARS AGO, WHEN WE HAD PROFESSIONALS.

NOW WITH THE TOPEKA, KAN. TEAM

Used Indecent Language in a Game at Webb City the Past Week, and His Bad Break Cost Him Eight Dollars.

"Red" Davis, who a few years ago played ball in Sedalia, but now playing with the Topeka club in the Western association, was written of as follows in a Webb City dispatch of the 2d to the Oklahoma City Times:

Umpire Shuster, the smallest indicator man of the Western association staff, weighing less than 125 pounds, cleaned out the entire Topeka team here yesterday afternoon, tacked a $5 fine on Dick Cooley and ordered the arrest of "Red" Davis right fielder of the Cooleysox, on a charge of using indecent language.

Davis was yanked into court and fined $3, which Cooley paid. Officers and local players accompanied Shuster from the grounds and prevented repetition of the trouble on the ball grounds.

The trouble started in the fourth inning of the second game, when Topeka refused to play after a decision of Shuster, and he forfeited the game to Webb City by a score of 9 to 0.

Then the trouble started. Cooley started for the umpire, and was sent back whipped with a $5 fine hanging. "Red" Davis came next, and a policeman met him with a request for $8 on a charge of using obscene language. More policemen were waiting for others of the obstreperous club, but they came no more after the umpire.

In the first game Webb City tied it in the ninth by scoring in the ninth. Topeka made one in the tenth, but Manager Milton did the hero act in the tenth when he knocked the ball over the center field fence for a home run, with one man on the sacks, and won the game by a score of 3 to 2.

Shuster's clean-up of the Topeka team follows trouble that he had with them in all of the towns of the circuit. In the first game of the series he benched Cooley, Arnold and Kahl. To Cooley, who was also the leader in the insurrection that day, the little Dutchman handed $5 and five days. Kahl was benched hard, and Arnold, more good natured in his bully-ragging, was benched gently.

The trouble started when Shuster called a Topeka runner out at first because he ran out of the line and interfered with the fielder after the ball.

The Times also had the following paragraph regarding Davis:

"Red" Davis, the big right fielder for Cooley, abused the umpire at Webb City to such an extent yesterday that it was necessary to order his arrest. Davis tried to run over a few private individuals here on the street between ball games, but quit with a squawk when someone threatened to clean him.

The Globe's Sale This Week.

The Globe Clothing store announces a Money-Raising Sale to begin Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Big red signs have been placed at the front of the store, completely covering the front. The sale will be conducted by Mr. Allen Chasoff, proprietor of the Globe, and a perusal of his full page announcement on page 3 of Part I. this morning will tell of the price concessions made to raise money for the firm.

Visited Mr. Gross' Sister.

Charles Gross, of South Osage avenue, is in receipt of a postal card from Emil Bichsel, stating that the writer recently visited the recipient's sister at Emu, Germany. The place is a beautiful summer resort, and Mr. Bichsel enjoyed his visit exceedingly.

"Earthly Talks."

As was predicted in last Sunday's issue, that August would bring higher values in real estate, is certainly coming true.

Since last Monday business has opened up with strength and assurance, that the buyers are not "shoppers" any more, and we are more convinced than ever that our prediction is coming true. Several good properties have changed hands within the past few days and several other good deals are pending.

It is right amusing "to brokers especially" when some private individual passes over their head and makes a purchase, paying several hundred dollars more than any broker in this city would have charged.

This upon its face appears contrary to all business principles, but nevertheless true. Any broker can save more than his commission amounts to as he knows (or ought to know) the absolute value of all real estate in his city. The broker's duty is to be absolutely honest, between the buyer and the seller. There are few if any of those in Sedalia but what can be trusted that far.

It is a great pity that one or two who fall by the wayside in honesty should condemn the whole fraternity. They are only human and try to do the best for all alike, and are earnest in their endeavors. No person should try to buy or sell real estate without their aid. If they do they make a mistake.—More Anon.

NO PARDONS ON FOURTH

GOVERNOR FOLK APPARENTLY ABANDONS CUSTOM OF THE PRISON.

NO RECOMMENDATION BY WARDEN

Convicts Have Freedom of Yard—Extra Dinner and 450 Lemons—Dancing by Women and Athletics by Men.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 4.—There were no holiday pardons at the state prison today, Governor Folk having apparently abandoned the custom established more than thirty years ago of pardoning two or more long term convicts on Christmas and the Fourth of July, the only two holidays observed at the prison.

There were no holiday pardons last Christmas, the governor declaring, after an examination of the recommendations submitted to him by Warden Hall, that he could find none on the list worthy of clemency.

This time Warden Hall made no recommendation, and did not submit a list of long-service convicts, who, under the custom, would be entitled to consideration, so the presumption is that the holiday pardon is a thing of the past, at least under the present administration.

Warden Hall gave the convicts the liberty of the yard and the halls of the cell buildings from 8 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. today. They were at liberty to do anything they pleased not inconsistent with discipline. Gambling was tabooed. A large proportion of the men indulged in athletic sports of all kinds, and many boxing bouts were pulled off.

In the female department there was music and dancing, the chief feature of the day being an extra good dinner which cost the state $621.45 to serve.

The ingredients required for this dinner included 3,653 pounds of ham, 1,100 pounds of ginger snaps, 200 gallons of coffee, 450 lemons, forty-five bushels of new potatoes, 480 loaves of bread, fifty gallons of brown gravy and 400 pounds of sugar. In addition to this the convicts were allowed to buy all kinds of fruits and confections from stands that were operated in the halls by the trustees.

A Sale at the Hub.

The Hub Clothing store, owned by Messrs. Tepper and Bertman, has been turned over to the Chicago Auction and Commission Co., with Edward Cowen as manager, to sell the stocks to raise $25,000. A full page announcement gives the details and prices at which goods will be sold will be found on Page 6, part II. of this morning's Democrat-Sentinel.

Steps to Success

Economy is the first step towards wealth; Opening a savings account with us is the second step; Some "sure things" are surer than others; a savings account is one of them; Money at interest lends a helping hand to encourage the saver; Each step taken—each dollar saved makes the next one easier;

Regular saving is the one speculation that always wins; Most troubles never reach the man who has a savings account;

A dollar on your deposit book is a silent partner working for you day and night;

Save while you can and you will never know want; This bank divides its profits with its depositors by paying 3 per cent compound interest.

TIN HORNS FOR WALLACE

MOB AT GLASGOW, MO., TRIED TO DROWN VOICE OF THE CANDIDATE.

THE KANSAS CITY MAN WAS CALM

Waits While Police Quiet Listeners and Suppress Disturbers—Trouble Feared for Time Between Audience and Disturbers.

Glasgow, Mo., July 4.—Judge William H. Wallace, candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, was undaunted last night by a brigade of horn blowers, who attempted to break up a meeting which the judge was addressing in the city hall. The police suppressed the mob with difficulty, and Judge Wallace spoke to a crowd which was too large for the building, many being forced to remain outside. Judge Wallace believes in the vigorous enforcement of all Sunday laws, and was giving his views to hundreds of voters when the blare of the horns made his voice inaudible. Unlike Demosthenes, Judge Wallace did not seek to drown the tin-horn band, but mildly waited until the noise had subsided. He had scarcely begun speaking when the tin-horn blowers surrounded the building and commenced operations. Those inside who were much entertained by the remarks of Judge Wallace were much incensed at the demonstration and for a time it was feared there would be trouble.

Cool heads controlled, however, and kept the crowd seated while the police gathered enough deputies to drive the serenaders away. Judge Wallace paced up and down the stage during the horn blowing contest but showed no signs of anger.

When order was restored, Judge Wallace resumed his speech. Photos of Missouri Pacific Wreck.

Dr. Snell's New Quarters.

The new quarters of Dr. L. C. Snell, the Dermatologist and Chiroprapist, in the Alamo building, are particularly noteworthy because of their convenience and advantages over the old parlors. The west half of the upstairs is utilized and each department is separate, providing privacy and convenience. There is a store room, which is stocked with toilet waters of every kind recommended and used by Dr. Snell, some of which are of his own compounding; there is a hair-dyeing, shampoo and dermatology apartment, all of which open into the reception hall. Among the special treatments used by Dr. Snell is the Violet-Ray light, which is one of the most successful remedies for facial blemishes and diseases of the skin. Mrs. Nellie Pace, expert manicurist and hair dresser, assists Dr. Snell.

The Little Weakness.

One of the strangest paradoxes in human nature is that men and women, struggling apparently with all their might to succeed, are yet constantly doing things, saying things, and thinking things which drive the very success they are after away from them.

Some men work like Trojans to gain a coveted position, and then, by getting puffed up with conceit or some foolish or weak act knock the scaffolding which they have been years in building out from under them and down they go.

Their lives are series of successive climbs and tumbles, so that they never get anywhere, never accomplish anything worth while.

Others are always driving success away from them by their lack of courage, their lack of confidence—driving it away by thoughtless habits which repel success conditions.—Home Chat.

Parable by Peary.

"You will get there yet," an admirer said to Explorer Peary. "You become a better explorer every trip." "Well," said the other, "there are tricks in every trade, of course, and as we live we learn. I knew an old grocer in Cresson who had learned a lot I stopped before his shop one day and looked curiously at a great line of barrels of apples, some marked with an A and some marked with a Z. 'Why are these barrels marked differently, Uncle Josh?' I said to the old man. 'They seem to be the same kind of apples.' 'They are the same kind, son,' the old man replied, 'but some customers want a barrel opened at the top and some at the bottom.'" determine what Pennsylvania shall say on the subject, and when a political boss, whether he calls himself a democrat or a republican, assures to defy the expressed will of his party, he shall never be in the party organization except over my protest.

"And as I have tried to be honest in politics I have notified Mr. Guffey that wherever my opinion has been asked, I have stated that I would regard his selection as unfortunate and his membership upon the committee as an embarrassment.

"Now, my friends, I shall not discuss the question further. I am not new in American politics. I have been in politics for some time, I have taken the people into my confidence ever since I have been in politics. I have discussed questions frankly. Nobody is in doubt as to what I believe or where I stand, and when this campaign came on, I said that while I did not know whether I ought to be nominated or not, if the people said that they believed I ought to be nominated, I would take it for granted that they meant what they said, and when they nominated me they wanted to elect me, and that no bushwhacker would be put into my counsels to betray me.

"And the man who believes that my election would be injurious to this country ought not to participate in that injury by helping to elect me through organization work. As a private individual, he might prefer me to other candidates, but as soon as he believes that my election would not be for the good of the country, or as soon as he cannot put his heart into it and give his service to that end, he ought to be willing that somebody else should bear that responsibility and have whatever honor is attached to the position. I believe I have expressed myself with sufficient clearness on that question."

Three cheers for the "fighting mayor" were given as Tom Johnson appeared.

"You," he said, "are witnessing at this time one of the greatest scenes the country has ever gone through. Here (turning to Mr. Bryan) is the man who received the almost unanimous nomination of the people. It is men like Guffey who have betrayed the democratic party and will betray it again. We have got to drive them out. We're not going to gain votes by trying to placate the men who want to make the democratic party so near like the republican party that no matter who wins, you lose."

Artificial Pearls.

The latest methods of making artificial pearls have turned out to be so successful that those who deal in genuine ones confess they have some difficulty at times to decide upon the false from the real. This fact has increased the sale of artificial pearls in France, and injured in consequence the sale of real pearls, and made it extremely difficult now for anyone having even the costliest pearls, if they desire to sell, to get anywhere near what they were sure of getting some months ago. It remains to be seen how these manufactured pearls will stand time and wear, and whether or not they will lose their sheen and color. A real pearl is kept in its beauty by being in contact with the warmth of the wearer's body. That is one of the reasons why pearls are worn so constantly by their owners, and it was the excuse at first for wearing them in the daytime.—Vogue.

Ready Answer.

The man who is always asking foolish questions met a small boy coming down the road with a huge pickle wrapped up in brown paper.

"What is that you have, my little man?"

"Pickle. Didn't think it was pumpkin, did you?"

"H'm! Where are you going?"

"Fishing."

"Fishing with a pickle?"

"Sure. I am going to catch pickerel. Anything else you want to know, mister?"

The Kind.

"This discussion about corporal punishment has created quite a breeze." "Exactly; but is it what a sailor would call a spanking breeze?"

THE GUN CLUB SHOOT

John McGrath Walked Off With First Money Saturday.

The Sedalia Gun Club had an interesting shoot at the state fair grounds Saturday, there being a large attendance. John McGrath walked off with the first money in each of the five events, as he also did at Friday's event, when he captured the gold medal. In the five events Saturday, the purses were divided into four moneys, the score being as follows:

First event, 25 targets: John McGrath, first, 23; Raymond, second, 20; Hoffman, third, 19; Young and Paradis, fourth, 18 each.

Second event, 15 targets: John McGrath, first, 14; Ed McGrath and Hoffman, second, 13 each; Baker, Young, Johnson and Looney, third, 12 each; Paradis, fourth, 11.

Third event, 10 targets: John McGrath, first, 9; Ed McGrath, Young, Johnson, Looney and Hoffman, second, 7 each. In shooting off Hoffman won; Anderson, third, 6; Paradis, fourth, 5.

Fourth event, 10 targets: John McGrath and Ed McGrath, first, each 8 marks, and John McGrath won on a shoot off, giving him first money. Other scores in the fifth event were: Johnson, second, 7; Young, third, 6; Baker, fourth, 4.

On a Level.

"How many girls have proposed to you this year, Tom?" "About as many as the good resolutions you have kept this year, Dick."

Disgusted the Brakeman.

Senator Depew tells of a curious incident that once occurred on the New York Central: "It seems that at a small station a ticket agent had run short on tickets and was obliged to give a party of fishermen halves instead of wholes. Full fare was paid for those half tickets, and the agent went out on the platform when the train stopped and explained the matter to the conductor, so that everything should be all right. The conductor had almost forgotten this occurrence when, some ten miles farther on, the front brakeman came to him and said in a tone of bitter disgust: 'This here half-fare dodge is gettin' a little too hot for me, boss. Why, there's a bunch of children up in the smoker what plays 'poker, drinks whiskey and wears whiskers.'"

Natural Beauties to Be Preserved.

A movement has been started to have the Malibu region in the Santa Monica mountains of California declared a national park in order to preserve the prehistoric flora and fauna, found in petrified form, from vandal hands. Geologists have declared the range to be the oldest mountain chain in California, and the wealth of priceless fossils found in the different strata bears out the statement of the scientists. Little, if any, of the land is valuable for agricultural purposes, while the rugged beauty of the many canyons opening on the Pacific ocean is unsurpassed for weird scenic effects.

Diverging.

Husband—I'm afraid I'm becoming cross-eyed, dear.

Wife—The idea! Why do you think that?

Husband—This thing of trying to look at my income and our expenses at the same time is slowly but surely getting its work in.

Had Seen Her.

"There are great things in store for you," said the fortune teller to the young man; "but there will be many obstacles to overcome. There is a woman continually crossing your path, a large woman with dark hair and eyes. She will dog your footsteps untringly."

"Yes; I know who that is."

"Ah, you have seen her?"

"Yes. She's my washerwoman."

THE NATIONAL CAPITOL

THE HON. W. H. TAFT HAS GONE
 TO HOT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA, TO RECUPERATE.

IS A RESORT FOR THE WEALTHY

How Could President Roosevelt, a
 Poor Man, Pay $1,000,000 for a
 Lot Upon Which to Build
 In New York City?

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Notwithstanding the departure of the president to his summer home and the scattering of the cabinet and the supreme court, movements emanating from or centering in Washington are of more than usual interest this summer. The secretary of war, or he who was until Wednesday the secretary of war and is now the republican presidential candidate, is in the city winding up matters for his final departure. He is now, for the first time for years, a private citizen, and the most conspicuous private citizen in the western hemisphere. He expects to leave for Hot Springs, Virginia today, with Mrs. Taft and their youngest son, Charles Taft, a youth of ten years.

Mr. Taft has been in the habit of spending his summers in Canada, but it will not be convenient for the presidential candidate to be out of the country and he has selected a place in Monroe county, Virginia, among the mountains, for his summer home. The Hot Springs of Virginia have been a resort for fifty years or more, and even before the war, rivaled the Green Briar White Springs as a fashionable resort for the slaveholding aristocracy of the south. Within the last few years it has been a resort of the wealthy and ultra fashionable people of the north and northeast.

While the presidential candidate and part of his family will be there for the hottest of the summer months, his daughter will visit a school friend in Georgia. There is, of course, no political significance in the selection of a resort south of the Mason and Dixon line, but the fact, insignificant as it is, marks the amelioration of long standing political asperities. There are political wiseacres who predict that the republican candidate will carry two or three southern states in the coming election and the fact that he and his family are at home in the south will not be without its significance.

It is reported that President Roosevelt has bought a lot for a residence in the city of New York at a cost of a million dollars. Two or three weeks ago only it was supposed that the president would be without occupation after March the fourth, and it was published that he was comfortably well off, having an income of at least ten thousand dollars! The question naturally arises: How is the president able to buy a lot for building purposes worth a million dollars?

Many ex-Senators and ex-cabinet officers have been known to buy homes or build homes in Washington, but no ex-president has ever remained in the city longer than his term. Ex-presidents have always returned to their homes in the states. There may be a reason for this. No king or emperor, after having enjoyed or endured the splendors of state, has ever known to settle down as a quiet citizen amid the scenes of his vanished glories. The president of the United States is, as far as honors and pageantry are concerned, a king or an emperor; and the anti-climax of private life would doubtless be too severe, as felt by himself and all who came in contact with him, for a merely mortal man.

At the state and war department in this city, the situation in Mexico is watched with intense interest. The Mexican government, of course, treats the insurgents as banditti for precisely the same reason that the British government a hundred and thirty years ago, treated the revolutionary fathers as rebels. An important difference in practice is that the Mexican government takes no prisoners, but kills those it captures. Porfirio Diaz, president of the so-called republic for the last twenty-five years, has been very much praised. The government has at least one recommendation. It is a very strong government. It is despotic, and in its despotism, Mexico has enjoyed such internal peace as she had never previously known for so long a period, but it is absurd to call the government a republic. The elections are absurd. There has never been a free or fair election in the country. All law, order and authority emanate from the palace of the president, whether from his home in the City of Mexico, or from Chapultepec, three miles out. Diaz might say with even more consistency than did Louis XV, "L'etat c'est Moi."

There is a junta or body of conspirators against this iron order of things, and the habitat of this junta at present is St. Louis. The Irish have or had in New York City, very much such a junta against the English government. There are malcontents, and with good reason, against every government. Diaz has the railroads for the transportation of such troops as are in the Mexican army, which consists largely of barefooted convicts, and he will probably be able to suppress the insurrection or drive them across into Texas. But it is not at all certain but that there will be a succession of uprisings in Mexico, or that that country has a more stable government than the Central and South American countries. Diaz is very old and feeble too, and revolution is anticipated at his death.

The good old parson accented the village blacksmith. "Henry," said the good man, "I notice you do a lot of automobile repairing. Now, good friend, suppose you move your shop around in the back of my parsonage."

"Do you think it would be a profitable move?" queried the cautious smithy.

"Undoubtedly, my good friend. While you are splicing the broken parts of the machinery I can splice the hearts of the runaway couples."

HAVE A NEW SCHEME

OPPONENTS OF BRYAN THINK
 THEY CAN PREVENT HIS NOMINATION.

WILL FIGHT FOR FIRST BALLOT

Say That if Nebraskan Doesn't Win on It, Instructions Will Be Off and Delegates Will Be Free to Choose Another.

Denver, July 4.—It is said that plans are being made by opponents of Mr. Bryan that are intended to top off the Nebraskan's vote in the convention to such an extent as to prevent his nomination on the first ballot if possible, through the application of what is known as the unit rule in voting.

With the first ballot out of the way, the opponents of Bryan declare that all instructions will then be off and that the convention can proceed to the work of nominating a ticket entirely free from any obligation to the Nebraska leader and in the true spirit of a democratic convention. Just how this plan is to be worked out and put into operation, and just what will be its effect on the official roll call are questions to which no definite answer can be given by those advocating it.

Mr. Bryan's adherents contend that the instructions given to delegates to vote for Bryan mean the continued voting for him until a nomination is made, and they regard the conception of this new scheme to be rather an evidence of forlorn hopes rather than a movement fraught with any danger to Bryan's success in the convention.

WARSHIP IS ALSO WORKSHOP.
 Moving Forts of Steel Swiftly Through the Waters Isn't an Easy Task.

A warship is a tremendously busy workshop, where the boss, his assistants and the workmen have a peculiar kind of work on hand, such as exists nowhere else in the world, and there is no time in which to ponder to the whims and desires of an outsider sent on board by the order of executive authorities higher up.

The work on hand is to move a floating fort of steel swiftly through the water in complete synchrony with a lot of other floating forts, and then to prepare those who are engaged in work in this fort for just one thing, to destroy and kill. Everything is subservient to one idea—to be ready to fight at the swiftest pace for just about one hour; for he it known that if one of the warships in this great battle fleet were fought at its swiftest and fullest capacity it would be all over, one way or the other, in an hour or less.

You see, fighting a warship is not a long-distance race; it's a hundred-yard dash, to change the figure. Getting ready for that dash, that supreme effort at the fastest speed, calls for all the concentration and hard, unrelenting toil that years of education in a complex specialty and years of experience can employ.

When this work is going on those engaged in it want outsiders out of the way, and if you're a wise outsider you want to get out of the way. Hence at such times it is likely that you'll get pretty tired standing around on your feet, with no place to rest your weary bones and no companion with whom you can even be bromide. Yes, it's fine and great to cruise 14,000 miles on a splendid warship, but truly it has some drawbacks.—New York Sun.

SPOT OF SPLENDID MEMORIES.

Trees Planted by Illustrious Men at University of Virginia.

Perhaps the most celebrated spot of its kind on American soil is that wonderful old French garden which divides the mansion at Monticello from the campus of the University of Virginia, which adjoins it. It is after the French plan to have massive bastions of brick to make the place as secluded as if it were miles from the active, noisy student life beyond. In these pensive precincts a host of illustrious men have gathered and many have left memories of their sojourn clinging to the spot like the vines and flowers they have planted.

Here Jefferson entertained Lafayette

ette and the warrior planted a root of wisteria which had been brought from France for the purpose. The vine still lives and spreads its exquisite flowers over all the south wall. In later days Bledsoe, philosopher and friend of the confederacy, planted some coral honeysuckle, the flowers of which are the pride of the present possessors. McGuffey, abhorred by the schoolboy because of the scores of readers and other text books that he wrote, planted some dwarf cedars, and that renowned mathematician, Charles Scott Venable, planted a few trees in symmetrical lines. Oliver Wendell Holmes buried the roots of an English laburnum bush, and it thrives to this day. John Staige Davis and Noah K. Davis, noted teachers in the university, have left their mark in the garden.

Among other famous men whose names are identified with the trees or flowering plants of this old garden are such pedagogues as those who wrote Greenleaf's "Evidence," Adams' "Equity," Vattel's "Laws of Nations," and Schele de Vere's "Beginning of the Romance Languages." Alexander Hamilton visited Monticello in Jefferson's time and planted an acorn, which is now a mighty oak. Mallet, the French chemist, brought a root of ivy from Vincennes when he was the guest of Jefferson. It is growing against the bastion. A truly instructive garden for a university is this ancient spot, with its rare old memories and its priceless exotics planted by men with immortal names.

WAS A SURPRISE WEDDING

That of J. Crawford Cotton and Miss
 Mina Greer.

J. Crawford Cotton, son of W. J. Cotton, editor of the Windsor Review, and who has been employed by the S. M. Hodges Job Printing company, and Miss Mina Greer, daughter of Mrs. Martha I. Greer, 530 S. Main street, were married by a Kansas City minister at one of the Christian churches at Kansas City last Monday. They will do light house-keeping at Kansas City.

Miss Greer has been employed by the Sedalia Printing company in the bindery, and is only 18 years old. Accompanied by her affianced she went to the Kaw river city last Sunday, and was married the following day.

The couple is well known in this city, and the news of their marriage will come as a surprise to every acquaintance.

The Glow of Glory.

We are all influenced by a desire of praise, and the best men are the most especially attracted by glory. Those very philosophers, even in the books which they write about despising glory, put their own names on the title-page. In the very act of recording their contempt for renown and notoriety, they desire to have their own names known and talked of.—Cicero.

"UNCLE REMUS" IS DEAD

JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS WAS ILL ONLY A SHORT TIME AT ATLANTA.

A GOOD MAN GONE TO HIS REWARD

No More Will Br'er Rabbit or Br'er Coon Talk in Corn Fields of Georgia—Their Master All but One of Childhood's Saints.

Atlanta, Ga., July 4.—Joel Chandler Harris, editor of "Uncle Remus" Magazine, and widely known as an author, died at his home here last night, after a short illness. Mr. Harris was 60 years old.

What Rudyard Kipling has been to the jungles of India, Joel Chandler Harris has been to the corn fields of Georgia. His name has been chiefy endeared to the world as the author of "Uncle Remus," that quaint negro character understanding to the full the master words of beasts of his domain—Br'er Rabbit, Br'er Fox, Br'er Coon, Br'er Wolf, Br'er Mink—has all but become one of the saints of the holiday season. He is almost as much a part of the life of children as is Santa Claus.

Joel Chandler Harris, as the true to life negro sketches, which raised him to the front rank of literature in this country has demonstrated, was to the humor born. He was born in the little village of Eatonton, Ga., Dec. 8, 1848. Before he was 6 years old he was able to read, and "The Vicar of Wakefield" falling into his hands about this time, stimulated the imaginative side of his character and led him to devour anything in print which he could obtain. He enjoyed but a few years of education at the public schools and at the Eatonton academy.

At the age of 12 he entered upon his apprenticeship to the printer's trade, serving as a printer's devil to a Colonel Turner, who, residing on a large plantation, published a weekly paper called the "Countryman." To this publication the boy sent his first efforts of authorship anonymously. They were promptly published and Colonel Turner speaking well of them, the youth finally threw off all disguise.

Young Harris was one of the observers of the march of Sherman's army to the sea, following the burning of Atlanta. Within a few months after the closing of the war he sought a wider field, obtaining employment successively on various newspapers of Macon, New Orleans and Savannah. While in Savannah he served as editorial writer on the Morning News. During his residence there he married Miss La Rose, of Canada.

In 1876 he removed to Atlanta and became a member of the editorial staff of the Atlanta Constitution, where his literary career really began. His connection with that newspaper continued for twenty-five years and closed only when he actually retired from active life. His first dialect stories were published in that paper. He and Frank L. Stanton, still with the Constitution, greatly aided Henry W. Grady to make the paper famous.

A score of books has come from his pen, ranging from "Uncle Remus, His Songs and His Sayings," which appeared in 1880, to the "Tar Baby" stories and "Uncle Remus and Br'er Rabbit," published last year. He also was the author of several volumes dealing with Georgia's history and its people.

A NOTED CASE REVERSED

IT IS SENT BACK TO ST. LOUIS CIRCUIT COURT WITH DIRECTIONS.

TWO WOMEN CLAIMED THE POLICY

Michael McFadden Was Insured in the A. O. U. W. for the Benefit of His Widow, but the Policy Was Changed.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 4.—Division No. 1 of the state supreme court has reversed the decision of the Kansas City court of appeals in the case of the A. O. U. W. lodge vs. Ross, 89 Mo. appeal, page 620, and holds that when a certificate issued by a fraternal beneficiary association, which assessments are paid by the party in whose favor the certificate is issued, and afterward the insured changed the beneficiary, the last beneficiary is entitled to the value of the policy after the other party has been paid the money paid out for assessments and interest to the time of the death of the insured.

The case came from St. Louis, where Michael McFadden held a certificate in the A. O. U. W. order for $2,900, made payable to his wife, Bridget McFadden. After ten years he fell out with his wife and had the certificate changed to his adopted daughter, Mary O'Malley. At his death both women claimed the money. St. Louis circuit court gave judgment to the widow and the adopted daughter appealed to the St. Louis court of appeals, which court awarded the widow the amount she had paid out in assessments and dues, with interest, and the balance of the policy to the adopted daughter.

This decision being in conflict with the decision of the Kansas City court of appeals, the case was certified to the supreme court, which sustains it and affirmed the judgment, reversing the Ross case.

The Wife's Morning Glory.

A writer in an exchange says: "The finest compliment I have ever heard told to a woman was by her husband, and he said, in speaking of her: 'We always think of her as a morning glory, because she looks so bright and cheery and pretty at the breakfast table.'"

"How many breakfast tables are presided over by women who make no effort to be dainty?—and there are a great number who are at once untidy and even uncleanly to look at."

"The claim that household duties keep women from looking well in the morning is easily disproved, for in many a household where the woman gives a helping hand in the kitchen a big apron will thoroughly protect her dress, and then, too, cooking, unless one makes it so, is never dirty work. That woman commits an error who looks uncared for and badly dressed in the morning. The other woman, who wears any old thing to the breakfast table, is also making a mistake, for that is the time when the men of the household ought to see a woman at her best, and not specially rely on her appearance in the evening, when the soft and charitable light of the gas will hide many defects."

Cramp Rings.

Formerly it was customary for kings of England on Good Friday to hallow certain rings, the wearing of which prevented cramp or epilepsy.

They were made from the metal of decayed coffins and consecrated with an elaborate ceremony, some details of which are still preserved. They were "highly recommended by the medical profession" about 1557, for Andrew Boorde, in his "Breviary of Health," speaking of cramp, says: "The kynge's majestie hath a great helpe in this matter in hallowing crampe rings without money or petition."

Occasionally cramp rings played a persuasive part in diplomacy. Lord Berners, our ambassador at the court of Charles V., wrote in 1508 "to my lord cardinal's grace" for some "crampe ryngs," with trust to "bestowe them well, by God's grace."

In the Future.

The latest scheme is to set type by wireless.

Of course there will be few occasions when this sort of typesetting can be utilized, but it should give the intelligent compositor a feeling of real comfort to realize that when out of town he can hustle to the nearest wireless station and set a column or two of type matter in the home office, with all the usual typographical errors in evidence.

Possibly the newspaper plant of the future will be so scientifically equipped that all the work connected with it can be done somewhere else, and nobody will be required around the premises except the cleaners and the night watchman.

Good Game for Girls' Party.

A game that will be of interest for a young girls' party should be conducted by a good story teller. The girls are placed in a circle around the story teller. She begins a narrative and must include the names of the girls. Every time a name is mentioned the girl must get out of her chair and into another one before the speaker is seated. Every one must make a scramble to protect her seat and keep the story teller on the floor. A new story is told and every time the word "love" is mentioned, each girl must change her place. The speaker aims to get a chair before ten minutes elapse, or she must pay a forfeit.

No Cause for Alarm.

"Look, officer!" shouted the excited citizen. "That big department store is afire."

"What makes you think so?" asked the officer, calmly.

"Why, don't you see all those women shoppers coming down the fire escapes?"

"Oh, yes; but that is not the sign of fire. You see, they can't get through the revolving doors with those big hats."

Museum for Lawyers in Paris.

The French palace of justice, like the department of foreign affairs and the police headquarters, is to have its museum, and it will not be the least interesting of the collections of Paris, for the department possesses numerous documents which will be of interest to lawyers all over the world. The idea of a museum of justice is no longer a mere project, for an organization committee of famous judges and lawyers is busy arranging it, and it is to be opened before long.—New York American.

Sedalia's Leading Specialists

We, as specialists, recognize no superior in the treatment of chronic, nervous and special diseases of men and women. We have searched the world over in acquiring special knowledge for the cause and cure of deep-seated chronic and complicated conditions that affect the human system. Our new and perfected course of systematic medication, the modern Americanized European method of treatment is working wonders in a large number of cases heretofore classed as incurable.

By these wonderful methods the sick can now be given the benefit of a class of treatment and a quality of skill that they have never had before without going to Europe. We have brought to this city the Great Medical Discoveries and inventions of the old world, in addition to the very latest and best that modern American medical science has to offer for the cure of many chronic, deep-seated and special diseases that so baffle the skill of all those who employ the ordinary methods.

WEAK WOMEN--- WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

We pride ourselves on our great achievements in restoring the gentler sex to health, strength and beauty; a clear, rosy complexion denotes perfect health. It is the health of the wife, the mother and daughter that mars or makes the happiness of home life. Many suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, well knowing they need medical attention.

THE CAUSE is readily traceable to some derangement of the female organs, chief of which are a depression of spirits, melancholy, a reluctance to perform cheerfully the daily duties, lack of energy, dragging sensation, unnatural discharges, irregularities, pain in the back, sides, breast, neck or head, nervousness, bloating and sleepless nights, discoloration around the eyes, liver spots, blotches, muddy complexion. One or all of these symptoms are but timely warnings, and if unheeded, a life of suffering with serious complications is the inevitable result. To all such sufferers we extend a helping hand. Our modern method of examination and manner of procedure is without exposure; our consultation free; our special home treatment for ladies works the most happy results, put up in mailable form for those who can not call.

THE CRITICAL PERIOD OF A WOMAN'S LIFE.—The most dangerous and critical period of a woman's existence is during change of life, and if you have been a chronic sufferer beware, cancer of the breast or womb, ovarian tumors, polypoid ulcerations, etc., all stand ready to wreck your hopes of a ripe old age, and to those of you who have already encountered these terrible wreckers of happy homes, we bid you hope, for it is on these malignant and deep-seated diseases that we have concentrated all our energies for years and have so perfected our methods that we cure absolutely and permanently without operations or the use of the knife, advanced cases of cancer, ovarian fibroid and uterine tumors, together with all other complications arising therefrom by our modern Americanized European method of Painless, Bloodless Surgery Treatment for Female Disease. Our sanitarium connection enables us to accept cases that need constant attention and those who are unable to come to our offices regularly. If you can not call, write for further information.

TO ALL WHO SUFFER

Come to our offices and we will make a thorough, searching and scientific examination of your case Free of Charge, and if we find that your condition will yield to the influence of our advanced methods then we will take your case.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

VICTIMS OF THURSDAY'S COLLISION ON THE MISSOURI PACIFIC ROAD.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The Globe-Democrat of Saturday had the following in regard to the Knob Noster wreck victims of the Missouri Pacific:

The funeral of J. B. Campbell, baggage man on train No. 3, of 7524 Vermont avenue, will be held from the family residence Sunday at 2:20 p. m. Interment will be in Oak Dale cemetery. Other arrangements for the funeral have not been completed. Campbell's body, which was brought to St. Louis last night, was not recovered until several hours after the wreck. It was buried beneath two of the splintered cars.

Campbell was 59 years old and had been railroading for forty years. He had been with the Missouri Pacific railroad for thirty-five years. He is survived by a wife and two children, E. A. Campbell and Miss Jennie Campbell.

The body of W. H. Harding, a negro mail clerk on train No. 12, was brought to St. Louis yesterday morning and prepared for burial by the W. C. Gordon Undertaking Co., of 349 Morgan street. The body will be taken to Nashville, Tenn., Saturday for burial. Mrs. Harding, his widow, will accompany the body.

Harding was treasurer of the Railway Mail Clerks' league, which was organized two months ago, and yesterday the members met and voted resolutions of condolence to the family. They sent Mrs. Harding a large floral offering of pink and white carnations, built in the shape of a mail car. Harding lived at 4233 Cottage avenue, and before he left on the ill-fated trip had made arrangements to celebrate his third wedding anniversary.

Brace A. Fleming, head mail clerk on train No. 12, of 2837 Park avenue, and Frank Vincent, of 2739 Lafayette avenue, mail clerk on train No. 3, were reported to be resting easy yesterday at their homes. They are both being attended by Dr. F. W. Bennett. All the other mail clerks who have been brought to their homes in St. Louis were reported recovering.

Penny Wise and Pound Foolish. U. A. McBride, of the Warrensburg Star, writing of the Missouri Pacific wreck of July 2 at Knob Noster, says:

"This is but another case where the expenditure of the paltry sum of about $50 per month on the part of the railroad company to pay a railroad man at Knob Noster would have saved the lives of eight human beings, the pain and anguish of forty or more who will, if they survive the awful affair, hobble through life maimed and crippled, to say nothing of the thousands of dollars lost in the destruction of railroad equipment."

Victims of the Wreck.

Of the thirty victims of the head-on collision between two Missouri Pacific passenger trains near Lamonte Thursday, only fifteen are now at the M. K. & T. railway hospital in this city, and Saturday each patient was reported as doing as well as could be expected.

P. H. Roberts, of St. Louis, who sustained a fractured skull and who is the worst injured of the victims, is getting along nicely, although he is still in a critical condition.

New Dispatcher Is Here.

I. H. Douglass, a train dispatcher from Monroe, La., who has been employed on the Iron Mountain railway, arrived here Friday to work the third trick at the local Missouri Pacific dispatcher's office, succeeding T. W. Strange, discharged in connection with the head-end collision near Lamonte Thursday.

Hospital Arrivals.

Following are new arrivals at the Katy hospital:

E. P. Adkins, trucker, Denison, Texas.

Edward Ferguson, car repairer, Denison, Texas.

R. C. Worsham, brakeman, Denison, Texas.

Railroad Official Weds.

A. D. Bethard, vice president and assistant general manager of the M. K. & T. railway, and Miss Anna Suggs were married at Denison, Texas, last Thursday evening.

He's Going to Texas.

W. J. Thelen, formerly foreman of the night switch engine on the M. K. & T., will leave this week for Gardendale, Texas, where he will assume the management of the Gardendale Land Improvement Co., with headquarters in the Lone Star state.

Automatic Couplers.

Ninety patients were registered at the M. K. & T. hospital Saturday.

G. H. Gibson, a Missouri Pacific conductor, went to Smithton Saturday to visit.

There are 102 men at work at the new Missouri Pacific shops at the present time.

The special train run to Lincoln Saturday was in charge of Conductor James Richard.

J. T. Westbrook, Missouri Pacific roadmaster, went to Lincoln Saturday on business.

James Egan, a Katy switchman, went to Spring Fork Saturday to attend the celebration.

Pat Gallivan, an M. K. & T. shopman, attended the celebration at Spring Fork Saturday.

An order was issued Saturday limiting the speed of High line trains to fifteen miles an hour.

Will Thomas, a Missouri Pacific telegraph operator, went to Tipton Saturday to visit friends.

L. W. Mosher, commercial agent for the Katy, returned last night from a business visit at Holden.

H. G. Miller, a Missouri Pacific boilermakers' apprentice, is ill with an abscess on his right thumb.

George Britten, division line man for the Missouri Pacific, made a business visit at Lamonte Saturday.

Caleb Bandy, a Missouri Pacific clerk, went to California, Mo., Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday.

C. M. Jacobs, ticket agent for the M. K. & T., who has been laying off for thirty days, resumed work Friday.

C. W. Krumm, a Missouri Pacific store room employee, went to Kansas City Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday.

W. H. Goin, timber buyer for the Missouri Pacific, came in Friday afternoon for a visit over Sunday with his family.

J. P. Rodeman, traveling freight agent for the Missouri Pacific, went to Kansas City Saturday to have his eyes treated.

H. J. Smith, an M. K. & T. passenger conductor, and daughter, Miss Mildred, are visiting relatives at Finley, Ohio.

Edward Taylor, a Missouri Pacific clerk from St. Louis, is here visiting his wife, who has been the guest of relatives for two weeks.

T. P. Madden, foreman of the Missouri Pacific blacksmithing department, and family, went to Kansas City Saturday to spend the day.

Roy Bradford, an M. K. & T. switchman, who has been officiating as foreman of the coal chute engine at Franklin Junction, has returned here.

George McVey, a Missouri Pacific relief telegrapher, is temporarily working at nights at the local offices in place of Will Thomas, who is laying off.

E. F. Kearney, superintendent of transportation for the Missouri Pacific, in his special car, passed through Sedalia Saturday morning, en route to St. Louis.

Dennis Golden, who came down from Kansas City last Friday night, is now employed at the M. K. & T. shops, in the freight car department, under Foreman Devine.

John A. Knott, of Hannibal, a member of the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, arrived here last night, and is stopping at the Antlers hotel.

Several of the striking Missouri Pacific carmen are reported to have gone back to work in the local shops and will show up tomorrow at 7 a. m. for regular employment.

"Jack" May, a former Missouri Pacific machinist in this city, now holding a good position in one of the railway shops at Franklin, Pa., is here on a visit with friends.

Five empty freight cars on a west-bound Missouri Pacific freight train were derailed at the side track at Lamonte Saturday morning, caused by one car jumping the rails.

Howard Penniston, the popular M. K. & T. number "grabber," is temporarily filling the position of yard checker, and is ably assisted by Harry Smith, the "old reliable" brakeman.

A special train of seven coaches conveying democrats from the east to the national convention at Denver, Colo., passed through Sedalia over the Missouri Pacific at 2:25 p. m. Saturday.

Frank M. Heath, an engineer on the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe railway, who has been visiting relatives and friends here, will depart Wednesday for San Marcial, N. M., to resume his duties.

Many railroad men from St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City and other points attended the funeral of Col. H. C. Townsend, for many years the general passenger and ticket agent for the Missouri Pacific, at Peoria, Ill., Saturday.

ON THEIR BRIDAL TRIP

Departed for St. Louis, After a Visit in Sedalia.

Dr. E. H. Elmendorf, a prominent physician of San Antonio, Texas, and pretty young bride, formerly Miss Edna Lodovic, of the same place, who have been visiting M. T. Slane and wife, left yesterday for St. Louis for a brief visit, after which they will continue their honeymoon trip through the east. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stevens.

Dr. and Mrs. Elmendorf were married at San Antonio on June 30 and will spend four months touring the east, after which they will return to San Antonio. Mrs. Elmendorf is a pretty young lady of the brunette type, and was very particular that announcement be made of the fact that Dr. Elmendorf was being accompanied by his life's helpmate.

MR. BRYAN LIKES MR. RIDDER

Would Not Object to Him as Vice Presidential Candidate.

Denver, Col., July 4.—Herman Ridder, proprietor of the New York Staats Zeitung, for vice president. Upon good authority, this is said to be Mr. Bryan's preference at the present time.

With the arrival in Denver today of several prominent democrats close in the confidence of the Nebraska, came the report that Mr. Bryan had decided that Ridder was strongly available for the nomination, not that he expects to dictate to the convention the man who shall be named, but to let it be known to his supporters the name of the man whom he believes would strengthen the ticket.

WILL WIN ON FIRST BALLOT

Brother Says That W. J. Bryan Will Have 807 Votes.

Denver, Colo., July 4.—It will be Bryan on the first ballot. This announcement was made today by Chas. W. Bryan, brother of the leading candidate, simultaneously with the formal opening of the Bryan headquarters at the Brown Palace hotel. He soon made it known that his original estimate of 807 votes on the first ballot for his brother would stand.

Spend Day in Country.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Crawford, Mrs. John Walmsley, Mr. William Powell, Jr., Mr. Harry Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Crawford will spend the day on the latter's farm, south of the city.

CROWD AT GREEN RIDGE

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH CELEBRATED IN A SPLENDID MANNER.

SEDALIA RIFLES QUITE A "CARD"

Addresses by Harvey D. Dow, C. C. Lawson and Col. M. V. Carroll—Large Number Present at Other Celebrations.

The celebration held Saturday in Ream's park at Green Ridge, as arranged for and managed by the local camp of the M. W. A. and the band, was a pronounced success in every particular, the attendance of men, women and children being estimated at 2,000. Not only did the people of Green Ridge and surrounding country attend, but large delegations were present from Sedalia, Windsor and other points.

The Sedalia Rifles, under the command of Capt. W. A. Collins, went down on the "High line," and were met at the depot by the band and M. W. A. and escorted to their camp in the park.

It was a basket picnic, and at noon a most bountiful spread was laid on the green grass and all were invited to eat to their fill.

After dinner a parade was had through the principal trees and made a most pleasing sight. A. J. Farley was marshal and led the procession. He was followed by the Green Ridge band, and next the Woodmen and Rifles, followed by a number of handsomely decorated floats, or a trades display.

The first was from the hardware store of L. B. Ream. Then came a prettily decorated float from the store of G. L. Bennett & Son. The next in order was from the general store of W. T. Brim; then followed a handsomely decorated float from the furniture store of G. R. Shelly, which attracted much admiration. Osborn's blacksmith shop had a very pretty float, as did Homer Robertson, the stock food salesman. All together the parade was most creditable and pleased the large crowd.

After the parade had entered the grounds, Col. Jeff J. Gray called the crowd to the stand and the people were entertained by good speaking. Harvey Dow spoke first, and for thirty minutes made a patriotic talk. He was followed by C. C. Lawson in a pleasant talk. Col. M. V. Carroll was next introduced and spoke for a brief period on Fraternality and the day we celebrate.

In the evening the band gave a concert from its new stand, and a most creditable display of fireworks closed the day's enjoyment, one of the best the town has ever had.

Celebrations were also held at Spring Fork, Otterville, Lincoln and Knobnoster, and at each point large crowds were in attendance and a most enjoyable day was spent.

HELD FOR $50,000 THEFT

Negro in Schenectady, N. Y., Suspected of the Pouch Robbery.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 4.—The police here arrested a negro giving his name as Eugene Wilson last night, whom they suspect of connection with the theft of $50,000 from a registered mail pouch in Kansas City. The negro conforms to the descriptions sent out perfectly, even to the scars over the eye and on his right elbow. He was caught jumping a freight train near the New York Central station. He had come from Cleveland and admitted that he had been in the west. He denied any connection with the robbery, however.

BONI KIDNAPS CHILDREN

Divorce Agreement Permits the Count to Have Them for a Month.

Paris, July 4.—It is said Count Boni de Castellane went to Versailles today and removed his children in a motor car from the hotel at which they were staying after a stormy discussion with the tutor who was in charge of them. He was supposed to have taken them to his father's house. Under the divorce judgment he is entitled to have the children for a month each summer.

TENDERS BROUGHT HERE

Part of Locomotives That Were in Wreck Are Now at Shops.

A special train in charge of Trainmaster E. M. Dennis, carrying the tenders of engines Nos. 5501 and 5529, which locomotives figured in the head end collision west of Lamonte Thursday morning, also the huge steam crane, car wheels and other remnants of the wreck, arrived here from the scene of the disaster at 9:20 o'clock last night and proceeded to the new shops, where the tenders will be removed.

The demolished locomotives are still at the scene of the wreck, but will be brought here today.

DESERTER GOT SAFELY AWAY.

Story of an Ingenious Escape from Governor's Island.

An army officer, who was talking of the escape a few days ago of a couple of prisoners from Castle William, told several stories of other attempts, frequently unsuccessful, to get away from Governor's Island.

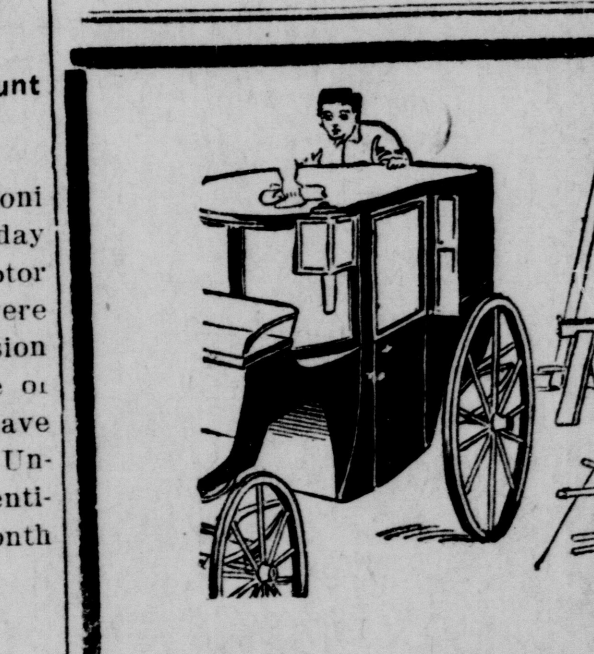

"One of the most ingenious that I remember," he said, "took place a few years ago and succeeded beautifully. The man who escaped had been a barber before he entered the army, and his job at Castle William was to shave and cut the hair of the other prisoners. He managed to save enough of the clippings to make a false mustache. Then in some way it's hard to tell how those things are contrived—he had a suit of plain clothes smuggled in to him. Still, he wasn't in any rash hurry to get away, but waited till a really good opportunity occurred. This came to him when a gang of plumbers were in the old fort making repairs. One evening he rigged himself up in his clothes and mustache and, picking up a couple of pieces of lead pipe and a forgotten solder pot, he walked leisurely out with the plumbers when they quit work. Right past the guard he went without being recognized, and, so far as I ever heard, he was not recaptured. I always thought that was a really clever escape—rather a theatrical one, too."
